If you don't play pearo, better learn. We do and did at the progressive pedro party held at Odd Fellows hell to the progressive pedro party held at Odd Fellows hell to the progressive pedro party held at Odd Fellows hell to the progressive pedro p Odd Fellows hall last Tuesday evening. It is a great game, espe ctally when played under the con-ditions and hospitality of the local Rebekah lodge, and that they are royal hostesses and entertainers goes without saying.

Tuesday was the regular meeting night, but the work was fuished early and tables and cards produced, and shortly after eight o'clock between 60 and 70 of Re-bekahs and their guests were having the time of their lives. We're not going to tell hov many games we won, but the place in the first division went to Ralph Hogle and Miss Ethel Morris, who were awarded with appropriate trophies. We're not the poorest trophies. We're not the poorest player in the world either, for the booby prizes and trophies were won by Mrs. A. J. Pickett and Nelson Everett, both of whom affirm that they "couldn't hold anything." anything."

The evening was a jolly social event and was thoroughly enjoya ble. Fourteen tables were used and in all there were about 70 in attendance.

Light refreshments were served late in the evening which closed with dancing by the younger folks and amid much mertiment.

New Principal

Detroit papers of the first of the week contained the announcement that Frank Steele of this place had been promoted to the principalship of the Scripps school, Detroit. Mr. Scripps makes his home in Farmington, when not actively en-gaged in school work in the city, and the announcement will be gratifying to his many friends.

"Frank N. Steele, who succeeds Miss Downey at the Scripps school, has been a member of the teaching has been a member of the teaching force of the ungraded department of Detroit's school for six years. Mr. Steele is now in charge of the ungraded room at the Sill school and was transferred to that posi tion from a similar one at the Logan building. Mr. Steele is a graduate of the Michigan State ton bound car. Barney Brookman Normal college at Ypsilanti was driving the big red truck of and has taught in the graded schools of the suburbs of the city. He came to Detroit five years ago and, when elected to the Detroit position, he had been for some years the principal of the high school at Dearborn."
