Unwritten Laws of the Road

Sponsored by the

Farmington Kiwanis Club

in cooperation with the

Farmington Enterprise

No. 6: Slow Down For Road-Side Businesses.

So-called higher speeds are safe only when the edge of the highway is insulated so that no other vehicle can get on it. Trouble may develop at any point where there is a break in this insulation. Especially dangerous are the areas in front of filling stations, vegetable stands, hot dog stands, eating establishments, etc. The use of these areas by drivers who are frequently made blind by parked trucks.

Professional drivers pull their speed down or if there is even one vehicle or pedestrian in sight.

Submitted by the Michigan Traffic Commission in cooperation with the Kiwanis Club of Michigan.
