Get a lot of sleepy eyes squinted at teachers this morning for these couldn't have been much asleep last night. After all the treats that disappeared into brown paper bags, big enough to hold a 15 pound turkey, it's a wonder that any little bodies showed up at school today at all. Well, at least the little dears know a clear conscience, which is more than their parents' former Halloween's could brag of.

Two big nights in a row were the schedule for a lot of little Clarenceville gals this week, for tonight the Girl Scouts and little elster Bonwies are holding their annual November 1. Parents and the public will watch their colorful flag ceremony which will be performed by one girl from each troop. Chairman of the affair is new leader

Mrs. Walter Doolittle of 29230 (Annapolis).

No, we didn't spell that street wrong, by the way. Did you know that on one side of Grand River the street is spelled Outago, and on the other side it's just Outgo. If someone could tell us how come? You know there's a lot of interesting reading from and about our neighborhood that never gets written, because our readers aren't good reporters. We need your cooperation to keep this column in print. Phone us with any news you know of, your family's, your neighbors', your club's. Just a tip, please.

Back just in time from Chicken Fox Land to trade their spots for even fatter attire were Halloween's spooks Karen and Karla Snider. Four and six-year-old daughters of the Allan Sniders of Scotten Street, they had just recovered from severe bouts with the flu when chicken

Brownie Troop 197 Holds Meeting At Bond School

Brownie Troop 197 met at the Bond School Friday, October 26, and elected officers. President is Kathleen Pyralis; vice president Janice Dwyer; secretary, Patty Oettinger; treasurer, Glendine Wallace; scribe, Judy Strand; and log keeper, Judy Douglas.

So far the troop has nine members. They are Margaret Hanson, Kathleen Pyralis, Janice Dwyer, Glendine Wallace, Judy Strand, Carol Leemgraven, Carol Tippit, Patty Oettinger and Patty White. The troop leaders are Mrs. Dwyer and Mrs. Heliker. The troop had a visitor at its meeting. She is Bonnie Brown, a Brownie in Mrs. Benson's troop.

William Lindall of the U. S. Navy was home on a seven day leave visiting his parents, the W. R. Lindalls of Orchard Lake Road. Lindall is stationed at Quonset Point, Rhode Island. He also brought a puppy, Charles Chapman, home with him.

Junior Gardeners Visit Miner Bird Sanctuary

The Farmington Junior Gardeners made a trip to Kingsville, Ontario, last week to visit the Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary. They viewed the thrilling sight of the migrating birds coming home, helped to feed them and were conducted through the grounds by Mr. Jasper Miner. Mr. Miner told them many interesting things about the birds, the sanctuary and the method of banding.

The children were transported by Mrs. Harvey Chapman, Mrs. Harold Westfall and Mrs. Earl Marks.

To Hear Clinic Speaker

Tom Coleman, director of the Cerebral Palsy Clinic in Detroit, will speak to members of the Bond Area Child Study Club Tuesday, November 6, at 8:00 p.m. in the German School. His topic will be "The Handicapped Child". All interested parents are welcome.
