AAUW SPONSORS COOK BOOK SALE TO RAISE FUNDS

Farmington Branch of A. A. U. W. is sponsoring a sale of "The World's Favorite Recipes from the United Nations" cookbook to raise funds for the Fellowship Fund.

The National Citizens Committee for United Nations Day had the cookbook prepared which contains over one hundred recipes from nearly every one of the 60 member countries of the U. N. Each recipe has been tested and adapted for American cooking methods by the American Home Economics Association.

The Fellowship Program of A. A. U. W. with of million dollar fellow-endowment fund gives aid to American women scholars and to university women of other countries through fellowships and international grants. In the 50 years since the first fellowship was given some 450 women have been helped through these awards to take their places in the ranks of college administrators, teachers, research investigators, writers and other professions.

Since 1945 A. A. U. W. has also given international grants to women from countries that suffered from the war. Each year from 35 to 50 women have been able to study in the United States and have come from 30 countries. These A. A. U. W. International students gain professional training that is put to use in rebuilding their homelands. They learn to know America and the bonds of friendship and understanding thus created are a practical contribution toward world cooperation and peace.

The United Nations Cookbook can be purchased from any member of the Farmington Branch or can be secured by calling Mrs. George Nantall, Jr., Fellowship Fund chairman, at Farmington 9591-24.

Enrollment Shows High Interest In Agriculture

Enrollment at Michigan State College shows interest in agriculture and related fields to continue strong despite selective service and good job opportunities in industry and commerce.

Dr. C. R. Mege, assistant dean of the school of agriculture, reports 27 more students in basic college with agricultural preference than last spring. Although total enrollment of freshmen and sophomores is less at MSC, 1,100 this fall compared to 1,185 in spring term this year. The drop is the result of smaller junior and senior classes than last year, Dr. Mege pointed out.
