MSC To Hold First Fall Commencement

Michigan State College will hold its first formal fall term graduation program November 23, when approximately 500 students will be candidates for degrees, according to Dr. Russell A. Runnells, chairman of the commencement committee.

Main speaker at commencement ceremonies will be Dr. W. W. Whitehouse, president of Albion College. MSC President John A. Hannah will confer degrees.

The exercises and a procession will be held in Fairchild theater, but students will not wear caps and gowns. The platform party, however, will be dressed in academic costume.

Mrs. M. E. Ault of Mayfield Avenue and Mrs. Forrest Ault of Hubbard Avenue were calling on the John Ackermanns in Dearborn last Saturday afternoon. In the eve, the two ladies were visiting with the Robert Hunters in Detroit.

The Ahlers from Detroit were visiting with Mrs. Ahlers' brother, E. W. Stange and his family, on Mayfield Avenue last Saturday.

William Varhol, freshman at the U. of M., was at the home of his parents on Shadyside Avenue for dinner Friday evening, November 2, and attended the football homecoming at Bentley High.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Magner of Shadyside Avenue were visiting with the McMillans in Detroit last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Keyser from Huntington Woods were calling on cousins near Shadyside last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stange and their son Edward of Mayfield Avenue visited relatives on the east side of Detroit last Sunday afternoon.

After several days of near pneumonia illness, Arthur Muir of Shadyside Avenue was able to return to his employment last Tuesday.

The McVea of Shadyside Avenue have all been recent victims of the flu epidemic.

Beverly, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Varhol of Shadyside Avenue, was quite seriously ill several days of this last week.

Mrs. E. W. Stange of Mayfield Avenue was spending the week end with the Robert Judds near Grosse Pointe. Her granddaughter Barbara underwent a tonsillectomy.

Bobby and Sharon, Wynman of Shadyside Avenue have recovered from flu attacks.

Private First Class Don Bollinger came from Missouri to spend last week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bollinger, on Mayfield Avenue. While home he was taken seriously ill Sunday and rushed to the base hospital at Selfridge Field. He is expected to be hospitalized all of this week.

Six members of the Sandau family of Hubbard Avenue are convalescing from flu.

Wednesday night, Mrs. Herman Schult of Shadyside Avenue was notified that her husband was suffering from blood poisoning and taken to a hospital near Elwood, Indiana, where he is employed. However, he is believed to be getting along nicely and in another week end may be home.

Mrs. Christine Rehahn of Mayfield Avenue was seized with a severe attack of flu Wednesday, but now seems somewhat improved.

From St. Petersburg, Florida, comes word from Mrs. Leslie Mansfield saying that she is very grateful to Michigan friends who so kindly remembered her 55th birthday on October 23.

Soldier Russell Haas of Alabama, a Korean veteran, went along with a sister-in-law and friend calling on the Misses Lora and Freda Ault Thursday evening. Russell and his mother are at present house guests of the Charles Hasses near Redford.

Mrs. Charles A. Armstrong, who has been a patient in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, is now reported making steady improvement.

Mrs. John Touchstone, who recently spent two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. George W. Sandau, and family of Hubbard, writes that she is now safely back at her home in Mobile, Alabama, and that the sun shines bright and warm.

Mrs. Mary Addis, who has been on the sick list for some time, was not so good this week, though still seeming on the way to better health.

Mrs. Grace Simpson of Mayfield Avenue has been notified that she is a grandmother again. A long distance call from Phoenix, Arizona, announced that her daughter, Mrs. Edward Brugman, gave birth to a baby girl Thursday, November 8. The father, who is stationed with the armed forces in Arizona, made the call.

A meeting of the Livonia Health Guild was held at Madonna College Thursday afternoon. A fair sized group was in attendance. Attending from this area were Mrs. Homer Coolman, Mrs. Maynard Horton, Mrs. Ernest Tallman, Mrs. Gerald Roberts, Freda Ault, Mrs. William Fisher and Mrs. J. C. Dunnam. A roast turkey dinner with all the usual accompaniments preceded the program. Feature of the program was a lesson on atomic nursing taught by a Wayne County Health nurse. This was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, who considered it most timely and interesting topic.

The next Health Guild meeting will be held next March 13 in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Fennell near Inkster. As usual, it will be preceded by a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. The topic is "Out of Darkness Into the Light" and will be discussed by Mrs. Bessie Fowler, a blind woman.

A Good Will Industries truck was making its rounds last Monday. It is scheduled to be out in this community again Monday, December 2. Discards are greatly needed to replenish supplies of the handicapped people who earn a living by remodeling cast-offs donated by those willing to help.

Mrs. Cecil Willert of Mayfield Avenue was hostess to a very pleasant plastic party Friday afternoon.

Mrs. George Welsh of Mayfield Avenue suffered a bad attack again last Thursday and will be confined to her bed for several days at least.

Mrs. Homer Coolman of Shadyside Avenue was visiting in Dearborn Tuesday.

Alma Howard Middlewood is home on leave.

Mrs. Howard Middlewood of Farmington Road has been hired as a medical nurse with the Kelvinator Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knapp of Farmington Road spent last week end with relatives in Kenton, Ohio.

Citizens Asked To Give To Starr Commonwealth

Within a few days persons in the Farmington area will receive Starr Commonwealth Christmas seals. Returns from this annual appeal go far toward meeting the running expenses of this highly successful school for teenagers with social and emotional problems, a spokesman for the Starr Commonwealth reports. These boys need a home, schooling, guidance and love. Trained social workers, interested housemothers, specialized teachers and the guiding wisdom of Uncle Floyd help them to become happy, useful citizens.

Two thousand old boys scattered throughout the States bear witness to the change their stay at Starr Commonwealth made in their lives. They make the difference between the right and the wrong path for some confused boy who finds himself in a jam. Uncle Floyd contends and demonstrates daily that, given an opportunity in an environment of love and activity, any normal boy will be good. Tomorrow's Star boy may be your neighbor, may represent you in your community, may fight for you in Korea and may take over the job you are now doing. Will you help him a chance to measure up to these responsibilities?

Plan Farmers' Week Exhibits In January

To make room for more and larger exhibits at Farmers' Week at Michigan State College next January, the east concourse of Mackinac Field Stadium is being enclosed and "winterized".

An area was temporarily closed off last year for exhibits and the feature proved so popular that funds have been made available to enclose a larger area beneath the concrete stands. The State Board of Agriculture, governing body of the college, recently made the funds available for the work, which is now under way.

Squirrels Are Plenty Smart

Throughout the summer and fall squirrels are mighty busy. These provident animals obtain and store ample stocks of winter food. Then when winter comes they are ready for it.

To insure oil heat all winter it is necessary to keep a balance between the oil supply and the season's demand — therefore it is vital that your tanks and ours be kept full at all times. Let us serve you today.
