

LITTLE MORE ... the same came down last Sunday, that white stuff that, makes for real old-dashioned Thanksgiving. But with it came something else at doesn't makes for anything but grief. They call it loe, but it is alled many other things — especially by truck drivers' the fellows that wheel the big ones had an opportunity to congr-ite along Grand River in and near Farmington last under a few share their trubles. The ley highways hard kers to the curb-opped and it has to be pretty had to haul the trackers in the main roads to take note please — hazardous driving days are her, was not be curb-here were a few minn skils and bangs, too, along the main roads to take note please — hazardous driving days are here. You just can't it what is going to happen — so just ta sai! That means-keeping te speed down and keeping lots of room between you and the other lew. Be samat — not sorry?

I sprease the senart — not sorry: IAFFIC WASN'T STOPPED ... In Grand River task Wednesday, but It was slowed down a little. It wasn't ice either, It was just a house this time. The house, located on the south side of Grand River between Farmington Road and Liberty Street, recently purchased from the City, was picked up and moved. Its short trip took it up Grand River and south on Liberty to Its new location just south of State Street. While all this was going on city police were rerouling traffic north around the Town Hall park. Everything went along very smoothly and If there evand any delay we suppet It was just a curlous motivit taking little bit ourselves. This house moving is a facinating business.

Now As Then ...

We set aside this Thanksgiving Day in gratitude to Him who has bestowed upon us the blessings of freedom and fruits of another bountiful harvest.

But now, as our forefathers three hundred years ago, we are aware of the need for protecting His gift against forces of darkness. Again we are faced with the stern reality that vigilance and unending faith are the keys to liberty.
