Theatre Party

Miss Lou Grace and Mesdames Thos. McGee and F. L. Cook made up a theatre party and had the pleasure of seeing Mr. E. H. Sothorn at the Garrick, Detroit, in "If I Were King" last Tuesday evening.

FARMINGTON FANS ENJOY BIG GAME

Day an Ideal One and Thirty-six Local Rooters Make Some Noise

Tyrus, surnamed Cobb, won the game for Detroit in the hoodoo "13th" after we had all given up hope, as St. Louis had scored two in the first half of the same inning. But that is all history because it happened at Navin Field last Tuesday afternoon.

The day was the prettiest of the present year and local fans turned out en masse, some riding the various cars, but the majority went in from Farmington in autos.

E. S. Grace, of the Owen House had ordered and received 36 tickets and by the way they were the best in the grandstand, on a line with the home plate in the stand, in the 2nd and 3rd rows, and each and everyone of them had an enthusiastic occupant.

If you missed it you missed the time of your life, and we'd like to write all about it, but lack of space forbids. Detroit won and we all had a good time, so why bother with details.

Those whom we saw in the stand were: Carl Hinborn, Herman Maas, John Lapham, John Walters, Dick Marsh, Art Lamb, Fred Becker, Clarence Bickling, Harrison Johnson, Harold Olden, Lew Thayer, Wm. Maas, George Cox, Clyde Seelye, Carl Hatton, Henry Pauline, Thos. H. McGee, Wm. Pauline, Floyd Nichols, Ben Meyers, Frank Walters, L. F. Schroeder, E. S. Grace, Forest Pierson, Jos. Ryan, Milton Grace of Redford, Herman Voss, Chas. Ely, Clarence Wilbur and Miss Ola Webster and of course ourselves. Miss Webster, we believe, had the honor of being the only representative of the gentler sex of Farmington at the game.

Immediately following the game, practically the entire crowd adjourned to the Hofbrau, where they were guests of E. S. Grace at dinner. The menu was delightful as was the service, and good fun and merriment reigned supreme. The dinner was followed by a theatre party.

The members of the party arrived home all the way from eight o'clock until morning, and if you don't believe they enjoyed them selves, just ask them. As for us, our voice sounds as though we might have caught a bad cold.

Guild Elects Officers

The Farmington Guild met at the home of and were entertained last Monday evening by Miss Nettie Dickerson, it being the regular meeting and also the annual election of officers.

The club membership was well represented, in the neighborhood of 40 being in attendance, and the meeting was an enthusiastic one.

The meeting was called to order by the president, and after disposing of minor business matters, proceeded to the election of a new set of officers. Following the election the business meeting was adjourned and the social activities started.

During the course of the evening numerous and varied games were played, and dainty refreshments served later.

The Guild is one of the largest and most prominent of the younger social sets and the membership is continually increasing.

Miss Dickerson proved herself a royal hostess, and each and every one in attendance had a royally good time.
