ENGLISH FACULTY EXCHANGE IDEAS AT COFFEE HOUR

The English department held the first of a series of "Coffee Hours" Tuesday, November 27, after school. The coffee hours have two puroses:

1. To exchange ideas and meth-ds of instruction.

2. To exchange information about ew trends in the use of the language.

The English department hopes to open these refreshment hours to high school students who may wish to stop by and talk about writing, drama, or class problems.

Miss Balley is faculty chairman of the English department. J. F.

Christmas Tree Cutters Heading For Trouble

Heading For Trouble

Persons who cut Christmas trees from northern state-owned land or from private land without owner consent are heading, for trouble, warns Ted Daw, conservation department assistant forestry chief.

"The individual cutting one or a dozen is stealing justlas much as if he chops one from the yard of a southern Michigan home," Daw reminds in pointing out that it is unlawful to cut, remove or transport the trees without the written conset of the land owner.

Conservation and other conforcement officers are cheening certified bills of approximate of the protect them to the consumers are urged to protect themselves by obtaining bill or sale forms, available from the state agriculture department, state police posts, conservation officers, district foresters and field offices and county agents.
