

BROKEN PLANS -- Plans for the official opening of the YMCA located at 12 Mile and Farmington had to be postponed this week after vandals destroyed $3,000 worth of tinted, plate

A FINAL TOUCH -- Plans called for final touches to be finished on the new YMCA in Farmington on Friday morning, but instead officials arrived only to find the building littered with broken glass, walls damaged and furniture scratched. (Evert photo)

Teen Program Is Beginning

FARMINGTON Young people wishing to enroll may apply at the center during the program hours.

Teens living near the William Grace Elementary School in Farmington will find a cure for those "summertime blues" at an eight week activity center at the school, sponsored by the Farmington Youth Assistance program.

The center will be open five days a week, Monday through Friday, from 3 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The program will feature sports, crafts, entertainment and a coffee house program for 13 to 17 year olds living in the area.

There will also be six Saturday field trips to parks, beaches and other events.

VA Research

Vastly better ways of treating malignant tumors and leukemias are expected to result from Veterans Administration research on how and why cells become cancerous.

Miss Acitelli Honored

FARMINGTON Linda K. Acitelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Acitelli of Farmington, has been selected for membership in Lambda Iota Tau honorary literature society and Epsilon Delta Alpha Scholastic honorary fraternity at Hillsdale College, where she has just completed her junior year.

Miss Acitelli is also an active member of the Tower Players, the college's dramatic group.

morning, but it had to be postponed. Vandals saw to that.

Some time last Thursday evening, vandals destroyed about $2,000 worth of tinted plate glass windows at the YMCA, located at 12 Mile and Farmington. Turning the other cheek, the YMCA received another blow Saturday night when vandals destroyed the remaining windows estimated at $1,000.

Mud and glass littered the new offices, and rocks were thrown so hard they left dents in the inside walls of the building. No estimate was given on the amount of damage done to the walls and furniture.

Five young boys have volunteered their help in clearing up the "Y", and Gary Unruh, the organization's new director, said their offices would be open this week, possibly today.

Unruh asked that anyone who has information about the two incidents contact the YMCA. "We want to do the best job for the community, but it isn't a one-way thing," he explained. "They (the community) have to help us, too."
