More involvement in the writing of the proposed charter for the City Of Farmington Hills is being urged by Robert McConnell, chairman of the charter commission.

A letter has been drafted and sent

A letter has been drafted and sent out to local organizations inviting them or their representatives to attend charter-writing sessions and include their suggestions.

McConnell says the purpose in the invitation is "to keep the public involved" in the writing of the charter, and hopes the involvement will enhance the chances of the charter getting approved.

The charter commission meets each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Farmington Township hall, 31555 11 Mile Rd.
