Decor Is New At Crowley's

Crowley's opened its new store in Farmington earlier in the week and plans a grand opening celebration on Aug. 3.

That was the announcement of Robert E. Winkel, Crowley's president, as doors opened for the new operation at 33250 12 Mile Road, at the intersection of Farmington Road.

The new facility is one of three acquired by Crowley's earlier in the year when it took over the Demery Inc. operations.

Under the direction of general store designers, Allen E. Dahmi Associates Inc., of Grand Rapids, the store has been completely redecorated and re-fitted.

The most extensive changes were aimed at those areas concerned with selling, and a new contemporary decor is notable there. An emphasis on the use of vibrant color is in keeping with Crowley's presentation of fashion merchandise.

The lower level has been changed for home furnishings plus stationery, luggage and notions. Due to limited floor space, major appliances, floor coverings and furniture will not be carried at the new store.

The street level has been redesigned for men's and young men's ready to wear and shoes, women's junior sportswear and women's fashion accessory departments.

The second level will carry women's ready to wear, infants and children's apparel and women's and children's shoes.

WINKEL emphasizes that merchandise in all departments is fall 1972 stock, purchased exclusively for the Farmington branch through Crowley's merchandising associates.

The new store offers convenient parking and will invite patrons to use accepted credit cards.

Store hours will be 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Started in 1908, Crowley's originally occupied half of the block where the main building now stands in downtown Detroit. It was six stories high and fronted on Farmer Street between Gratiot and Monroe.

By 1917, the entire block had been acquired making Crowley's the largest store in Michigan. By 1920, the expansion had moved across Library to what is now the East building.

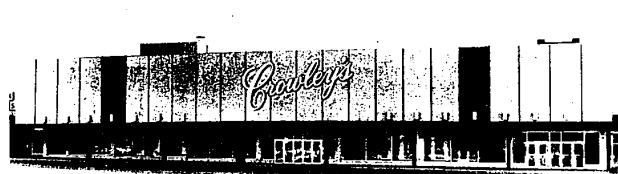

This 11-story building was constructed in 1925 with its unique "bridge over Library," still a well known Detroit landmark.

Crowley's first suburban store was opened in 1959 in Dearborn and was quickly followed in 1960 by a second Detroit store on Grand River near Greenfield.

Two 127,000 square foot stores were opened simultaneously in 1964 in the Livonia Mall and the Macomb Mall, the first climate controlled enclosed shopping centers in Michigan.

CROWLEY's continues to be Detroit's only locally owned and operated full-line department store. The company is administered from central offices located in the downtown store building.

It houses all accounting services, marking and receiving operations, advertising, credit and print shop facilities.

CROWLEY'S NAME is on the former Demery store in Farmington Township.

"HOW DO YOU STOP CORRUPTION"

Let's face it...

It takes a trained investigator with years of experience and the "know how" to ferret out wrongdoings. ROBERTS has all of the attributes and qualifications necessary to protect your interests and tax dollars. The special interest groups, manipulators, corrupters and all those who would benefit at the expense of the taxpayer such as welfare cheats, corrupt officials and sinister organization men, must be exposed. There is a reason why ROBERTS is theft claims manager in the State of Michigan for Republic Insurance Companies. He knows how to expose frauds and cheats. His many years experience as an investigator will be brought to play in county government to assure the taxpayers of knowledge just where their tax dollar is going.

ROBERTS in the last week alone has stopped the clerks in the city of Southfield and Bloomfield Township from disenfranchising voters by illegally issuing absentee ballots in violation of the state election laws. This is a graphic example of Roberts' investigative expertise.

Arroyo Will Star In 'Aida'

ROCHESTER
Two concert performances of Verdi's masterpiece "Aida" at the Meadow Brook Festival, featuring a starring soprano Martina Arroyo in the title role will highlight the sixth week of the Meadow Brook Music Festival.

Other star attractions this week will be John Denver, Ferrante and Teicher, and "The World of Gilbert and Sullivan."

John Denver, singer, guitarist and composer, will open the week's entertainment with a concert on Wednesday, Aug. 2, at 8:30. Denver is considered by many to be the spokesman for his under-30 generation. This will be the fourth and final folk concert of the '72 season at Meadow Brook.

"AIDA" WILL be performed on Thursday and Saturday evenings at 8:30. This concert performance represents the most comprehensive artistic effort to date at the Meadow Brook Festival, featuring a starring soprano Martina Arroyo in the title role will highlight the sixth week of the Meadow Brook Music Festival.

Besides the title role sung by Martina Arroyo, the cast includes Mignon Dunn as Amneris, Charles Hindley as Rhamnes, Morley Meredith as Amonasro, and Ara Berberian as Ramfis. Miss Arroyo, Miss Dunn and Meredith are regular members of the Met Opera Company. Supporting roles will be sung by Jan Albritton, Gabriel Balassone and Edward Kingins, all members of the Overture to Opera Company.

The chorus will combine the Meadow Brook Festival Chorus and the Overture to Opera Chorus, under the direction of Raynold L. Allvin.

S'f'd Project Bids Accepted

Bids were accepted by the Michigan State Highway Commission on two Southfield projects recently while bids in repairs for I-96 business route in Farmington and Redford Township were rejected and will be rescheduled.

Jervis Excavating Co. of Oak Park was the only bidder on repairing eroded slopes on the John Lodge expressway in the 10 mile interchange. The company's bid was $38,560.

Jervis was also the only bidder at $44,573 for erosion control and slope repair on I-696 between Evergreen and the I-96 interchange in Southfield.
