

Lack Of Consideration By Drivers Hazardous

EDITOR:
I am a 17 year old who recently spent four days in the hospital and lost close to $5,000 when I rolled my car into the side of a hill.

I had this misfortune on the expressway where I was run off the road by a driver who neglected to check the traffic in the rear of him, or use his turn signal.

The driver did not stop at the scene of the accident, and because I did not have collision insurance on my car I am paying for a car I do not have.

I urge motorists with the bad habit of cutting from one lane to another to realize the hazard they are creating for other drivers. A little consideration for others could save lives and money.

Kids Praised For Behavior

EDITOR:
So often these days, much of the news of young people is in the form of problems of one kind or another. So we decided to write to say how well we feel the young people around our Garfield Elementary School did on the night preceding Halloween. The lack of vandalism and pranks in our area seems noteworthy.

We feel that part of this pleasant change is due to an article printed in our October 1971, Garfield School paper stating the harm done by thoughtless pranks and a request that parents help by keeping the children in after dark, and a reminder similar to that printed in the October 1972, paper.

We thought that perhaps telling others might prompt more PTA organizations to print such articles next year in hopes that the "devil's night" myth can be eliminated.

We, the executive board of the Garfield PTA, wish to express our thanks to the parents for their cooperation that has helped to make Halloween, 1972, a pleasant experience for us.

Voters Ruin School Lawn

EDITOR:
Yesterday was election day. Yesterday saw a steady downpour of rain the entire day.

Yesterday also saw hundreds of people flocking to Randolph Elementary School in Livonia to cast their ballots.

Hundreds and hundreds of the cars flocking to Randolph School were unable to find parking in the parking lot, and, rather than park on the street, proceeded to fill the entire lawn surrounding the school.

The rain-softened grass has been substantially destroyed. What a sad commentary on the values of our society when a person will spend his entire weekend manicuring his own lawn, only to drive carelessly over and help destroy the lawn owned by everyone in the community.

We certainly cannot expect our young to have respect for others' property when they witness this arrogant disregard for property by their parents.

Living across from Randolph School, I have to put up with the dust bowl and unsightly appearance created by the disregard of my fellow Livonians.

Unfortunately, and please remember the next time you're about to park on the school lawn, so do your children.

Geake's Election Starts SC Power Shift; Dumas To Stay

By KATHY MORAN

Two Schoolcraft College trustees won election to other offices last week, creating at least one, and possibly two, vacancies on the college's board of trustees.

Board Chairman R. Robert Geake won the 35th District state representative seat on the Republican ticket. Dr. Geake, a resident of Northville, said he will resign from the Schoolcraft board effective Jan. 1. The board will appoint a replacement.

Students Elect 14 From Area To SC Senate

Fourteen students from the Overland area were recently elected to the Schoolcraft College student senate, the student governing body.

Mark Rodemeyer, 20330 Joy, Livonia, was elected president; Ralph Martin, 31518 Hennipin, Garden City, vice president; Debbie Mossamer, 34032 Moore, Farmington, secretary; and Bradley Jones, 37329 Ladywood, Livonia, treasurer.

Sophomore representatives are Karl Sjogren, 20338 Brentwood, Livonia; Dennis Radtke, 29940 Highland, Livonia; Diane Tatum, 13591 Marion, Redford Township; and Raymond Brooks, Detroit.

Freshmen representatives include Keith Leveille, 30712 Beechwood, Garden City; Mike Berry, 16019 Blue Skies, Livonia; Rick Webber, 14200 Beatrice, Livonia; Sherree Steger, 14917 Park Ave., Livonia; Robert Drogosch, 15048 Susanna, Livonia; Roderic Krzywicki, 35172 Orangelan, Livonia; and Louise Toms, 42251 Sundale, Plymouth.

Kensington Has Sunday Nature Walks

Special "once-a-month" guided nature walks on Sunday mornings will be held during the next several weeks to help acquaint outdoors lovers with a better understanding of the natural world around them and to appreciate the growing environmental concern.

Families and individuals may meet the park naturalists at the Nature Centers at Kensington metropark near Millford on four special Sundays. These dates and times are: Sunday, Nov. 19 at 8 a.m.; Sunday, Dec. 17 at 9 a.m.; Sunday, Jan. 19 at 9 a.m.; and Feb. 11 at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Dumas' seat if she has to give it up, thus tipping the balances on the board.

The board is likely to appoint a person who is interested in running for one of the four seats that will be left vacant in June, giving the appointee an edge over other candidates.

Both Kadish's and Mrs. Dumas' terms expire in June. They had been elected to two-year terms in September 1971.

Dr. Geake's six-year term won't expire until June 1975. The seat will be filled in the election with the winning candidate serving the balance of the term.

BROWN WAS appointed to fill the vacancy created when George Martin resigned. That term also expires in June.

Currently Schoolcraft is the only college in Michigan with an even number of trustees.
