

Candlelight Vows Unite Finleys

A candlelight ceremony Oct. 21 in St. Paul Lutheran Church in Northville united Linda Sue Parlette and Mark Joseph Finley in marriage.

Their parents, Plymouth residents, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parlette of Robinson Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Foy Finley of Ann Arbor Road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory sateen and cluny lace gown with high neckline, lantern sleeves and chapel train. Her short veil fell from a camelot cap of lace, and she carried a nosegay of deep red, pink and white dried flowers.

DIANA PARLETTE, as maid of honor for her sister, wore a ruby red velvet gown with a cluny lace bib, front. Dressed like her were the bridesmaids, Carol Parlette, another sister, and Sue and Marikay Finley, the bridegroom's sisters. All carried nosegays of dried flowers and wore flower clusters and ribbon in their hair.

Harold Wilhelm of Ypsilanti was best man. Seating the guests were Wayne Tormala of Southgate, Jerome Kimble of Ferndale and Ron Finley, brother of the bridegroom.

5 Generations At Baptism

Five generations were present when eight-month-old Jennifer Ann Broombaugh was baptized recently in Clarenceville United Methodist Church of Livonia.

Jennifer is the daughter of Charles and Laura Broombaugh of Livonia. On hand when she was baptized by the Rev. Elsie Johns were her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Laura Thirey of Farmington, her great-grandmother, Mrs. Charlotte Rudi of Clare, Mich., and her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Laura Leach, also of Clare.

Four generations of her father's family were present for the occasion.
