JUNE BRIDES AND GROOMS

Rev. Chas. Lee and L. F. Schroeder Start on Matrimonial Voyage With Brides.

ARMSTRONG-SCHROEDER
In the presence of relatives and a very few intimate friends of both the contracting parties, at the home of the bride's parents at Perry, Miss Ethyl Armstrong and Louis F. Schroeder were united in marriage at high noon Wednesday last.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party entered the room, where the groom awaited his bride, accompanied by the maid of honor, Miss Ruby Badger, under a beautiful bower of white and green. The bride entered on the arm of her father, and was followed by little Miss Ruth Schroeder, a cousin of the groom, carrying the ring on a beautiful white rose. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. D. Young of Perry.

The bride was beautifully gowned in shadow lace over white crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor was attired in white marquisette and carried pink and white carnations, and the demure little ring bearer in white silk.

Following the ceremony a three-course dinner was served.

Both members of the bridal party are well known and highly respected in their home communities, and the bride is a former Farmington girl, being a daughter of W. K. Armstrong, formerly identified with and in Farmington business circles. The bride made this city her home until about a year ago and has a large circle of friends who will welcome her return to Farmington as a bride.

The groom is too well known throughout this section of the county to need any introduction from us. He is a native son of this community, went through school, grew to manhood, and though yet a young man has extensive business in and about this place. He was formerly engaged in the market business, but recently disposed of the business, and has since engaged in the wholesale buying and selling of live stock, as well as in the handling of ice. He is a man in every sense of the word, and in keeping with such has prepared a modern home for the reception of his bride.

The newly wedded couple left Wednesday in their car for a ten day tour of the state, after which they will return to Farmington to make their home.

It is indeed a pleasure for the editor to join with their many friends here and elsewhere in wishing them an abundance of all that is best in life, and happiness.

NEWBERRY-LEE

On last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Saginaw, Miss Mable Newberry was united in marriage to the Rev. Charles Sidney Lee of this place, a former co worker and brother minister in one of the leading M. E. churches of Saginaw, uttering the beautiful words that made the young couple one, in the presence of intimate friends and relatives of both.

The romance grew out of a friendship formed nearly two years ago at Saginaw, where the groom had been transferred from Salem, as associate pastor, and where he first met the young lady who Wednesday became his bride.

one of the most prominent young ladies of Saginaw, a social and church worker and a favorite. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Newberry, and holds a high place in Saginaw social circles and is a talented and cultured musician.

The groom is well known and highly respected, not only in Farmington, but in other cities and towns of the state where he has resided. For over a year past he has made his home in Farmington, and is pastor of the local M. E. church, and has made a large circle of friends, both in and out of the church.

No young couple ever started out on life's voyage, united, with brighter prospects of happiness and success, and the return of the newly married couple will be marked by a round of receptions, etc.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple left on a several days' honeymoon and will visit several Canadian cities, including Quebec.

The local pulpit will be filled by a Detroit pastor the coming Sunday, during the absence of the honeymooners, who are expected to return to this place the latter part of next week. The groom has prepared for the return of his bride, and the home is in readiness for their occupancy.

Hearty congratulations and a royal welcome await the homecoming of the bride and groom, on the part of Farmington at large, to which we hasten to add those of the Enterprise and the editor personally.

LADIES' UNION DEPARTMENT

Sunday, June 21, is to be the JUNE DAY service in the Universalist church of this village. The Ladies' Union is making special preparations for this event and it will be a rare occasion for the people of this vicinity. The program will be announced later.

The regular morning service at 10:30 a. m. Sermon by the pastor. Subject, "A go as you please, life."
