At the Sudden Death of Alex H. Smith in the Capitol.

Lansing, Feb. 3, 1909.
A heart has just failed here
Under the dome.
A spirit just sailed from here
Back to its home.
One name less for Reporters to smirch,
One soul glorified, free from reproach
Under the dome.

Highest ambition is doubted by all.
Here under the dome.
Each one's a grader here,
Far from home.
Sickness or suffering don't count at all;
Some rise early because other fall;
Heaven help the feeble ones after all
Under the dome.

Yet hearts here seem to me
Under this dome.
As true as hearts ever lie
Even at home.
We're all here, as you'd think from
The press;
The crowd saves many a one from distress.

And the style is ignored, I often confess,
A coat that's ragged or a well worn dress
To help those at home.
The soul that just went, from here
Under the dome.
Passed out into paradise, all alone
Got faint that the spirit may hover
Above.

The bit of dome of Heaven and this one
On ground
And point is the way that you went
Without fear.
To that dome in the sky from the lesser one here.

Funeral of Popular Man.

The funeral services of Mr. Alex H. Smith of this place, who died in Lansing last week, were held at his home here Friday, Feb. 3. The services being conducted by Rev. E. E. Musser of Northville and Rev. J. E. Menley of the local M. E. church. The sermon delivered by Rev. Musser was very impressive.

The pallbearers were Paul King of Lansing, M. J. McLeod of Detroit, Mr. Kirby of Lansing, Wm. W. W. of Detroit, ex-Senator Seeley of Pontiac and Harry M. Cracken. The music was by Miss Grace Tremper of Northville and Mrs. Minnie Wilber.

Mr. Smith was born at Creston, Ia., Aug. 27, 1854, and died Feb. 3, 1909, being 54 years of age at the time of death.

Mr. Smith leaves a widow and four children, besides a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. The funeral services were largely attended, many state officials from Lansing and a delegation from Detroit Typographical union being in attendance.

On reconvening Tuesday evening, the House of representatives at Lansing passed resolutions on the death of Mr. Smith and adjourned out of respect, the members covering the latter's desk with flowers.

Olden Days of 1908.

In the olden days of a year ago Farmington would have been much surprised to have gathered two such audiences as have greeted Dr. Vaughan and Prof. Fall within one week's time. Dr. Vaughan spoke to 250 people Monday evening, and Prof. Fall to 100 Sunday afternoon. Both sought to instruct instead of entertain. Wonder if local option isn't having its effect here.

A Knight for a Day.

Raymond Hubbell is responsible for the score and Robert B. Smith for the book and lyrics of B. C. Whitney's big musical gaiety "A Knight for a Day," which will be seen at the Howland Theatre, Pontiac, for one night on Monday, February 15th.

They had already attained a wide repute through "Mexicana" and "Fantasia" before Manager Whitney secured their latest effort for the opening attraction at the Paddis Theatre in Chicago, which he took over and gave his name. It was such a pronounced success there that it established a record entirely new for a prolonged run of musical comedy. It was performed 107 times in the Western Metropolis, and run six months in New York and three in Boston.

The chorus, which has been rehearsed under the personal direction of S. Solke, is said to offer some specialties in dances that will make those familiar with this noted stage director's inventive genius sit up and take notice.

Of the many song numbers which have been whistled by the audiences at every city so far visited, these are perhaps the most notable. "Whistle When You Walk Out," "I'd Like Another Situation Just Like That," "Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! For That," "Life Is a See-Saw," "The Little Girl in Blue," and "You Never Told Me That We Were Married."
