Area Homemakers Will Head 1968 Torch Fund Campaign

Four area women have received top residential campaign assignments for the 1968 Torch Drive.

They are Mrs. William W. Bartels, 36891 Thibault, Wayne, her vice president, Mrs. Richard H. Oldenburg, 33041 Barre, Garden City, Mayor H. Holland, 32954 Oakley, Livonia, and Mrs. Craig Rockafellow, of 23819 Wilmarth, Farmington.

The drive benefiting nearly 200 health and community services will be held Oct. 15 through Nov. 7.

AS RESIDENTIAL chairman for Torch Drive region 33, Mrs. Bartels will organize, train and direct solicitation efforts of volunteers in the house-to-house canvass in Garden City, Inkster, Wayne and Westland. She will be assisted by Mrs. Oldenburg.

Mrs. Holland will do the same in Torch Drive region 34, which includes Livonia, Northville, and Redford Township. The campaign for Region 44 will be supervised by Mrs. Rockafellow. This area is comprised of Farmington, Novi, Lyon and Commerce.

The announcement of the appointments was made by Mrs. Frederick C. Schneidewind, of Dearborn, Western Wayne residential unit chairman for the 20th annual Torch Drive.

Mrs. Bartels was an area chairman in the 1965 residential campaign and moved up to regional chairman in 1966.

She majored in education at Michigan State University, where she was granted a bachelor of arts degree.

MRS. BARTELS is active in the Wayne Civic Players. Her husband is employed by the City of Wayne. They have a son, four-year-old John.

A regional chairman in last year's residential campaign, Mrs. Oldenburg was undertaken a dual assignment in the 1968 Torch Drive. She is combining her work as a U.F. Recruitment Corps region chairman with her campaign role as region vice-chairman.

Mrs. Oldenburg attended the University of Glasgow, Glasgow, Scotland. She is a member of the Republican Women's Club and the Garden City Business and Professional Women's Club.

Her husband is owner of Bagatelle Industries. They have four children: Sandra, 22; Kurt, 20; Rick, 17 and Dana, 5.

Mrs. Rockafellow was doorbell ringer in two Torch Drives before becoming district chairman, the post she held for two years before becoming a division chairman for the 1966 drive.

She attended the University of Michigan and her husband is a lecturer at the University of Michigan, Dearborn Campus. In addition her Torch Drive work she is active with the U-M Faculty Women's Club and the Farmington Jaycee Auxiliary. She is the mother of two children, Stuart, six, and Britton, five.

Mrs. Holland has experienced firsthand the benefits of a service supported through the annual United Foundation campaign. Her daughter, Robin, was stricken with leukemia in 1963.

"We cannot forget the care and kind assistance offered by the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan during Robin's illness and at the time of her death," Mrs. Holland said.

"That prompted me to volunteer for campaign work the following year," she added. "And after seeing the great needs of others, I have felt compelled to continue."

In addition to working in the U.F. campaign, Mrs. Holland serves on the budget committee of Michigan United Fund (MUF), the planning and budgeting federation for state and national services supported through the Torch Drive and the Children's Leukemia Foundation.

After 23 Years-- A One-day Reunion

Twenty-three years ago, during World War II, Donald Skinner, of 1217 Penman, Plymouth, was stationed with the Marines on Guam.

It was late in the war, but continuing air attacks by the Japanese made it necessary for the United States to station troops on the island for the protection of the citizens.

When a baby girl was born to the family that Skinner was staying with, he carved a cradle for her, the first the family had ever seen, and wrote home asking for clothing for the family.

Skinner's sister, Josephine, sent diapers for the new baby and these were also new to Skinner's Guam family.

Skinner was a Godfather when he left the island more than two decades ago, and he took with him memories of a little baby girl and a family that was very kind to him during his stay there.

MISS JOSEPHINE Anderson, of Guam, visited her Godfather in Plymouth last week, fulfilling a promise she had made to herself over the years of correspondence with the man who had protected her family and whose sister is her namesake.

She is a young woman now, a secretary attached to the governor of Guam's official party. The National Governor's Conference being held in Cincinnati, O., brought her to the United States and upon arriving in Los Angeles, she immediately flew to Detroit where the Skinners met her plane.

THE SKINNERS were delighted with their Godchild and asked themselves, "If we want to show a young lady from a tiny island in the Pacific, our American heritage, how do we go about it?"

They answered this question with a short drive and Miss Anderson found herself surrounded by the Americans of Greenfield Village.

"She loved the village, especially the Stephen Foster home, and we were impressed with her knowledge of our country and its history," said Mrs. Skinner.

Miss Anderson's disappointingly brief visit ended the following day when she flew back to California, only to join the governor's party and fly eastward again to the Cincinnati conference.

m. m. memos

The youngest member of our family has made some mighty strides in these days of being six-and-a-half going on six-and-three-quarters.

The most amazing ones, to her mother, are the intellectual accomplishments like reading most of a comic book page and figuring out that "39 and 39 has to be 78 because 3 and 3 is 6 and 9 and 9 is 18 and it can't be 90-18."

Others have more meaning in her daily life. In recent months she mastered riding a two-wheel bike and walking on stilts.

She can dive into the swimming club pool and swim most of the way across.

She is stretching up to shelves only recently out of reach, and forgot to turn on the tears for a recent pin-prick test at the doctor's office.

But one sure mark of growing up eludes her, and she feels its lack keenly.

Last year she was the only one in her first-grade class who reached the end of the school year without passing this milestone, and chances of getting there before the end of the summer look dim.

Probe and poke and wiggle as she will, she STILL hasn't lost even one baby tooth.
