Injured at Clarencville.

Last Sunday Mat Crawford and niece drove down town the latter intending to take the eastbound car. The car came to a stop when they arrived here; they drove on down to Clarencville. The niece, Blanche O'Connor, alighted from the machine and attempted to cross the car tracks, but mistaking the distance of the approaching car, she was struck by the westbound car, and thrown to the ground, badly bruising and cutting her face, hands and limbs.

She was picked up by Mr. Henry Ford and taken to his home, where she was attended by a doctor, who pronounced her condition serious, and that she was in danger of losing her life.

Ladies Literary Club

Ladies to the number of 18 attended the Literary Club at the home of Mrs. Mary Crosby, Wednesday afternoon.

After the business routine a communication is read from the Northville Club extending an invitation to join them on November 12 at the auditorium of the Art Museum in their program for the afternoon, which will be doubly interesting by the addition of moving pictures.

A complete program of the F. W. C. which convened Thursday morning at Pontiac, was read to the club, with the result that more of the members decided to attend.

The first two acts of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" were read by the club and nicely handled under the leadership of Mrs. Bickling.

Meeting adjourned at 5:30, to meet November 17 with Mrs. Agnes Chamberlain.

As an addition to the above communication from Northville it is stated that a special car is expected to leave from Northville and will stop at Farmington for all those who wish to attend. Those who intend going kindly notify the secretary before Tuesday.

MARY JOHNSON, Sec'y.

Ladies Union Meeting

The regular meeting of the Ladies Union which was held at the home of Mrs. C. J. Sprague, last Thursday afternoon, October 28th. The day was an ideal one and brought out many more than could otherwise have attended.

After business matters were attended to, a program of two selections from Whitcomb Riley, very appropriate for October, were read by Clara Wixon, and a sketch of the life of John Murray, by Mary Green; music by Ernestine Pierce and Helen Kennedy was greatly appreciated. A delightful luncheon was served to about forty Union members and friends of the Union.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. G. Adams on Thursday, November 11th.

Elect Officers

"The Invincibles" met at the home of Mrs. M. B. Pierce Friday evening, October 29th, and the following officers were elected:

President—Tone Chamberlain. Vice President—Leola Thayer. Secretary—Helen Whipple. Treasurer—Martha Staunman.

After the short business meeting refreshments were served, and a good time indulged in.

Gilt Edge Items

Threshing is just about done in this vicinity.

Albert Greabner is busy hauling apples to the market.

Cora and Eleanor Traff were visitors at Elsie Liverence's Sunday.

Mable Sulkowski visited at the home of Mrs. R. Kahri Saturday afternoon.

Ed Milling of Detroit, visited at the home of his aunt, Mrs. R. Kahri, Monday.

Frank Bradley has finished putting in a cement floor in his cheese factory—some of the milk inspector's orders.

Doris Fredmon, Marguerite Millard and Helen Bradley were school visitors Friday afternoon, there being no school in Northville Thursday and Friday.

My little chick the price of land bought up since the road is coming through here. The farmer and better look out on their chickens, for they won't have any left.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES BEYOND

O. H. West Died Saturday at the Home of His Sister North of the Village

O. H. West was born in Farmington township on August 3, 1857, and was called to his final rest last Saturday, October 30, 1915, aged 57 years, 2 months and 24 days.

Mr. West was married to Electa Hilliker in 1882, she dying in 1886. Since that time he has resided within a short distance of his birthplace, except for about five years, when he was employed in Detroit, coming to the home of his sister in the early part of the summer because of ill health.

Mr. West was a man of sterling qualities, and no eulogy is necessary, for to know him was to gain a friend, and those who knew him best can testify to his worth.

Surviving are a brother, Elmer West, of Novi, and two sisters, Mrs. Edgar Hilliker, of Farmington, and Mrs. Lucy Dellings, of Caro, besides a large circle of friends.

The funeral was held at the home of the sister, Mrs. Edgar Hilliker, Tuesday, conducted by Rev. Geo. Gullen, of Detroit, assisted by Rev. D. M. Ward, and interment was made in the East Farmington cemetery.

Twenty-nine Years Old

With this issue the Enterprise enters upon its thirtieth year, and we are going to put forth our best efforts to make it the banner year of its existence. Will you help us? We need the aid of everyone in this village and surrounding country. We want to know your visitors, and everything of a new nature that happens in your neighborhood. Some of these things we could not possibly know of unless you tell us. We also want every one to speak a good word for the paper, if it pleases you. It not, tell us, and we will endeavor to remedy the fault.

We would also be pleased to meet each of our patrons and friends, and when you are in the vicinity of the office come in and get acquainted.

If you have anything in the printing or advertising line, don't take it out of town, but give us a chance. We will always try and use you well, give you good work and at reasonable prices. Give us a trial and see if we can please you. We have come to make Farmington our home, and will always be found "boosting" for Farmington and Oakland county.

Lets get together and work together for the upbuilding of this village and its surrounding territory.

Dropped Dead Tuesday

Frank McDermott, aged 70 years, died at his home in this village Tuesday morning, November 2, 1915, while sitting in his chair.

Mr. McDermott had been a sufferer from heart disease for a number of years.

Surviving him are a niece, Miss Minnie Toomey, and a nephew, Clyde McDermott, who resided with him at the home in this village two brothers, William, of Farmington and Hugh, of Southfield; two sisters, Mrs. Edward McHugh, of Ponton and Mrs. Vanall Lockwood of Clarencville, also three nieces and four nephews.

Mr. McDermott was of a quiet and retiring disposition, but will be greatly missed by his wife and large circle of friends in the vicinity.

The funeral will be held from the late home at 10:30 Saturday and interment at the Catholic church at 11:00 a. m.
