Any Room Can Be Made Attractive With

ROGERS

No doubt you think the room shown in the above cut is very attractive. But it is no more attractive than any of your rooms can be made if you paint the walls with one of the beautiful soft shades of Wall-Tona. You can then keep your walls clean and sanitary by washing them with soap and water. The simple but artistic wall coloring will bring out the best features of everything else in the room.

Let us talk to you about the many possibilities of Wall-Tona.

Announcement

FORD

UNIVERSAL CARS

THE FOLLOWING PRICES F. O. B. DETROIT, EFFECTIVE AUGUST 2nd, 1915:

Ford Runabout - $390.00
Ford Touring Car - 440.00
Ford Town Car - 640.00

No speedometer included in this year's equipment, otherwise cars fully equipped

There can be no assurance given against an advance in these prices at any time. We guarantee, however, that there will be no reduction in these prices prior to August 1, 1916.

Profit Sharing with Retail Buyers

On August 1, 1914 we made the announcement that if we could make and sell at retail 300,000 Ford cars between August 1, 1914 and August 1, 1915 we would share profits with the retail purchaser, to the extent of from $40 to $60 on each car. We have sold over 300,000 Ford cars in the time specified, and profit-sharing checks of $50 each will be distributed as rapidly as possible after August 15, 1915. Retail purchasers who have not yet mailed us their profit-sharing coupons, properly endorsed, should do so without delay.

Our plan to profit-share with retail purchasers of Ford cars during 1914-15 has been most successful. We thoroughly believe in it, but, realizing the uncertainty of conditions generally makes it advisable to defer any announcement of future profit-sharing until a later date.

We are, however, confident of our inability to reduce prices for several months, and therefore can offer no profit-sharing for cars delivered during August, September and October, 1915.

BE A GOODFELLOW

The hearts of all generous people are being touched again this year by the spirit of Christmas, and efforts are being made in most of the cities and villages to bring happiness and comfort to those who are not possessed of the means to give the Christmas season its proper joyfulness.

The Goodfellows are increasing year by year, and funds are supplied to make every family—especially the children, to whom the day means so much, if their trust in the visits of Santa Claus is not shaken by poverty and hardships—happy on that "day of days" to the American home.

Last year much suffering and want was alienated through this growing movement, and many who had given up all hope of a realization of the happiness and cheer of the day were visited through the efforts of those in better circumstances, and the Goodfellows provided for the wants of the day and exercised a friendly care for the needs of ensuing days, by seeking work for the idle, scattering cheer and comfort with their salutations of "A Merry Christmas."

This year fewer tears will fall, fewer hearts will be wrung by want; fewer children will be compelled to wonder whether Santa Claus is, after all, but a myth invented for the pleasure of more fortunate boys and girls.

But the Goodfellows will not find themselves thrown out of work. Always there is a task for the charitable, and a field for the exercise of generous impulses. The plentiful period when no one needs the help of the more fortunate, has not yet arrived, and even if it be shiftlessness and lack of thrift on the part of some one which has made help necessary, there are always innocent ones who must suffer and who will bless the Goodfellows for the happiness they bring.

In the small town there is not to be found the desolate homes that are evident on every hand in the cities, but we doubt not but there are children right here in Farmington who could be made happier by the efforts of some Goodfellow.

And the happiness is not all on the side of those who receive, for there is always a better feeling for the giver.

WHAT ARE WE DOING?

It is a mighty good thing for every citizen and business man to take himself to account occasionally and see what he himself is doing for the good of his town and community. Ask himself if he is doing anything to induce people to come to town, or to make it attractive, to make it a place worth coming to and worth living in. What offer is he making to the farmers and public in general to come to town and spend their money. Does he have an ad in the home paper, and if he has does he offer anything? Or is he one of that kind who says "it doesn't pay to advertise." Or does he use the old cry that "the mail order houses are getting all the business." Bless his soul, doesn't he know that these concerns are building up their business by advertising, and if they stopped, their expenses would eat them up and put them out of business inside of ten months.

If your Christmas ad is not in the Enterprise this week you are taking a chance. One extra customer would more than pay for the ad.

With leap year less than a month distant that look of expectancy on the part of some of our spinsters is explainable.

A long sentence doesn't worry a reader near as much as it does a criminal.

DON'T GET MAD

A man is like a piece of steel; that is, he ain't much good when once he's lost his temper—he could keep it if he would; there's such a thing as "righteous wrath" "just indignation," too; but you should never let your wrath the toe-hold get on you; before controlling others one must learn the simple rule of being master of oneself, one's passions to control; the angry man, the hotspur, in an argument will find he's not a match for others who preserve an even mind, and those who fly into a rage at any trifling cause will generally regret it, when they have a chance to pause; such outbursts for apologies eventually call, especially if the other man has kept his head at all. As good advice as ever happened to drop from lip or pen is this: "Don't lose your temper till you've counted up to ten;" when this control you once have learned, you'll be surprised to see what strengthening of character comes with the victory.

Public Convenience Station

Probably few villages know that in Michigan there is a law providing for the establishment in any village of a public convenience station, the recent agitation of the subject in several towns bringing it to light:

Public Act No. 285 of Acts of 1915 reads as follows:

Sec. 1.—It shall be the duty of the common council of any city in this state, and of the board of trustees of any incorporated village, to cause to be constructed and maintained in such village or city not less than one public closet, commonly known and designated as a public convenience station, in such place or places as directed by the local board of health. Such closets or public convenience stations shall have thereon the proper signs and be so placed as directed by the local board of health as to be easily accessible from the business district or districts of such city or village and shall be maintained in a sanitary manner under the supervision of the local board of health. Suitable and adequate accommodations shall be afforded at such public convenience stations, to the members of both sexes.

Advance in Paper

Paper jobbers have received announcement from leading paper manufacturers that the price of colored papers has advanced from one-half a cent to four cents per pound, according to the grade. The greatest advance is in course grades. White paper is also affected by the advance, it is announced in connection with a sharp advance in news print paper. Writing paper, envelopes, sand paper and drawing paper share in the rise.

No satisfactory substitute for the dyes heretofore imported from Germany has been found by the paper manufacturers, it is stated. Some of them state that no golden red or scarlet color suitable for their use are obtainable. The supply of blue used by the mills in whitening print paper is exhausted, with the result that all newspapers will have to adopt paper of a creamy tint as soon as their present stocks have been consumed, and the price which has been advancing steadily for the past five years, will go still higher.

Joseph Puvogel, while feeding a corn husker near Royal Oak last week, caught his hand in the machine and lost four fingers of his left hand. The remainder of the hand will probably have to be taken off.

Jerome Arnold, an Oxford township farmer, has 30 swarms of bees, from which he secured a ton of honey. The colony occupy about an eighth of an acre of ground, which is probably the most productive piece of land in the county.

Guard Your Children

Against Bowel Trouble

Many children at an early age become constipated, and frequently serious consequences result. Not being able to realize his own condition, a child's bowels should be constantly watched, and a gentle laxative given when necessary.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are especially well adapted to women and children. The Sisters of Christian Charity, 531 Charles St., Lancaster, Pa., who attend many cases of sickness say that:

"Some time ago we began using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and find that we like them very much. Their action is excellent and we are grateful for having been made acquainted with them. We have had good results in every case and the Sisters are very much pleased."

The form and flavor of any medicine is very important, no matter who is to take it. The taste and appearance are especially important when children are concerned. All parents know how hard it is to give the average child "medicine," even though the taste is partially disguised. In using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, however, this difficulty is overcome. The shape of the tablets, their appearance, and candy-like taste at once appeal to any child, with the result that they are taken without objection.

The rich chocolate flavor and absence of other taste, make Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets the ideal remedy for children.

If the first box fails to benefit, the price is returned. Ask your druggist. A box of 25 doses costs only 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.
