MUSIC IN THE WINTER TIME

Lincoln Republican Club.

The twenty-seventh annual banquet of the Lincoln Republican Club has been fixed for Wednesday, February 9, 1916, at six o'clock p. m. central standard time. The banquet will be held in the Light Guard Armory in the city of Pontiac, and arrangements have been made to seat about 750 guests. Elaborate preparations have been made for decorating the armory for the occasion, the contract for the decorating having been let to a firm of decorators in the city of Detroit. The speakers and the subjects will be as follows:

Hon. John Barrett, Director of the Pan-American Union. Subject, "Pan-Americanism, A merica's Present Great Day Opportunity." Senator Charles E. Townsend, Subject, "The Conduct of Our Foreign Relations During the Last Three Years."

Hon. Patrick H. Kelly, Subject, "To What Extent Should the United States Increase Its Military and Naval Establishments?"

If possible Senator William Alden Smith will also be present, his subject being: "What the Present War has taught America." The Toastmaster has not been selected, but the Committee assures us of some very able man.

Arrangements have been made to give an informal luncheon for the speakers of the evening at the Board of Commerce, Wednesday noon.

Farmington residents may procure tickets the last of the week from Harry N. McCracken or Byron Pierce.

CHURCH NOTES

Methodist Church

The hours of worship are 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. eastern time. Next Sunday the subjects are "The Good Samaritan," and "Near, yet Far."

Salem Evangelical Rev. Stange will preach in the Farmington church next Sunday, January 30th, at 10:30 central standard time.

No, we don't want to know how old "Ann" is, but just how many beans there are in the jar at White's store.

Has a New Lease of Life

The following was written by Palmer Sherman, who is rapidly regaining his health after his serious illness:

Palmer Sherman, the oldest resident of Farmington and a widower, got remorse, lonesome and homesick because he was alone in the world; he did not belong to any club or association, but heard the people talk so much about the grip association, and so many joining.

"I thought it must be something nice and pleasant, so on the Sunday before Christmas I joined, and my neighbors and friends came in to congratulate me and wish me good luck and success in my new move, but before they left they said for my comfort I had better retire, so I took my bed and stepped over the line into Florida."

"What a beautiful country—such mild, even temperature, fresh air, I thought I had better stop for the winter."

"Then came along a beautiful young lady, as fair as ever created—only 22 and weight 208, and worth one dollar a pound. She said she was to be my companion. Her gentle manner, smiles and sweet voice made me think I was near the "Happy Land."

"She did her duty nicely, and when she would take her chair and hum a few tunes and sing a few lovely songs it would drive all bad thoughts you have or will ever have so far from you they may never return, and fill your breast with joy. There is nothing like it; try it once see for yourself! And now the beautiful bird has flown, leaving me feeling so young and buoyant that I think I have a new lease of life for eight or ten years, but I still remain in Florida, the surroundings are so beautiful I think I will stay till I hear the sweet chirp of the blue bird."

Now, if any one wishes to know what real life is, let him join the "Grip Association."

School Notes

Final examinations this week Thursday and Friday.

The sixth grade completed physiology this week, and next Monday will take up "Beginner's American History."

Quite a number have earned their half holiday this month by being neither absent nor tardy.

The B class of the first grade have taken up their book in reading.

One new enrollment in the primary room this week.

Two basket ball games Friday evening. Wyandotte vs. High School Girls. Royal Oak vs. High School Boys.

GIRL'S GAME.

The Farmington Basket Ball Team had another walk away last Friday night when the High School boys won from Fowlerville, and the girls from River Rouge.

The girls played the first game, and had about their own way as the score indicates. The game was a slow affair and had it not been for the good basket shooting of "Polly" Pickett and Viola Owen no excitement would have been shown throughout the game. Polly seemed to throw the ball through the basket on the bardest chances, and they were always clean. The baskets made by Viola were pretty and she deserves credit for her manner of playing. Helen Gravelin, the new center for Farmington, was a star throughout the game. She easily outjumped her opponent and nearly always received the ball on passes.

Marguerite Moore and Caroline Morris both played fine in their positions, and kept the River Rouge forwards handicapped throughout the game. Julia Eisenlord played a fine game as running center and made a good mate for Helen.

| FARMINGTON | POSITION | RIVER ROUGE |
|------------|----------|-------------|
| Caroline | G | Jan |
| Marguerite | C | Caroline |
| Helen | J. C. | Henrietta |
| Julia | R. C. | Ira |
| Viola | F | Ida |
| Pauline | F | Hilda |

Score: Farmington, 17. River Rouge, 5. Baskets from field, Viola 2, Pauline, 5; Ida 1. Baskets from fouls, Pauline, 3 in 9; Ida 3 in 11. Time of halves, 15 minutes. Referee, Finch.

BOYS' GAME.

The Boy's game was one sided, with Farmington always in the lead. The local boys outclassed their opponents in all points of the game. It seemed as though Gildemeister and Osmus could not miss the basket, each getting eight baskets from the field.

The guards played their positions well and seemed always to get hold of the ball when it came in their territory.

Norman Lee was a star, at least as far as shooting fouls were concerned, being able to count 14 out of 20 attempts.

The Fowlerville team is a good team, and is capable of winning from the average high school team. They promise to get revenge February 4th, when Farmington plays in Fowlerville.

| FOWLERVILLE | POSITION | F. H. S. |
|--------------|----------|--------------|
| Grover | F | Osmus |
| Cook, Grover | F | Gildemeister |
| Grievess | C | N. Lee |
| Houge | G | W. Lee |
| Reylh | G | Goers |

Score: Farmington, 68. Fowlerville, 31. 1st half, Farmington 27, Fowlerville, 12. Baskets from field, Osmus, 9; Gildemeister, 8; N. Lee, 8; Goers, 2; Cook, 3; Grievess, 6; Houge, 2; Reylh, 3. Baskets from fouls, N. Lee, 14 out of 20, Grievess, 3 out of 12. Referee, Pierce.

Mrs. R. W. Emmons entertained a party of lady friends at her home Tuesday afternoon. Cards and refreshments contributed to a good time. Anticipating the opening of the bowling alley the ladies present organized a club.—Redford Record.

After April 1, the Fowlerville Review will be conducted on a strictly cash in advance system. Evidently Brother Adams has become tired of carrying subscribers along a year or two and then having them refuse the paper.—South Lyon Herald.

Mervin McNulty had to miss his first day of school last week on account of grippe. He had been attending school for four years and has been neither tardy nor absent during that time. A good deal of credit should be given him for his pluck and ambition.—Milford Times.

In circuit court at Pontiac on Tuesday, in the matter of William N. Krug, of Detroit, vs. the Independent Power Co., of Holly, Judge Smith announced that unless the defendants filed a bond within one week to over a judgment the plaintiff claims to hold against the company, he would name a receiver for the company. The case was continued for one week to permit the filing of the bond.—Holly Advertiser.

A pile of ice was found on the M. C. track at the curve north of Stoner Lake last Sunday, evidently designed to wreck 208, the fast south bound passenger train which usually passes that point at 40 miles an hour. A freight crew happened to come along over the big grade at a slow rate and were able to stop their train and remove the obstruction in time to prevent a big wreck. The railroad people have a force of detectives working on such clues as they have been able to uncover.—Orion Review.

The brick house on the Dr. Lodge farm southeast of town had a close call from destruction by fire Tuesday afternoon. A kerosene oil stove had been burning in the cellar, and smelling smoke, Mrs. Charles Taylor, who lives there, opened the cellar door to find the cellar full of smoke and the stove ablaze. Hastily notifying "Central" she got busy with pails of water, and had the fire under control when help arrived. The bin boards were burned and the fire had just reached the floor when discovered.—Milford Times.

Trees Subject to Scale

The injury to fruit trees caused by the San Jose scale is so well known that comment is unnecessary. Nearly all the southern portion of Michigan bears evidence of it. But the insect does not confine its attentions to fruit trees. Many species of forest, ornamental trees and shrubs are liable to be infested, the most important among them we will mention.

Japanese quince. This shrub has been used in park and lawn plantings on account of the red flowers which are yielded in profusion. The scale will quickly destroy it, unless prompt attention be given it. Infested shrubs should be thoroughly sprayed or grubbed up, so as to prevent the spread of the insect.

No tree seems more liable to become infested than the mountain ash. The tender bark makes it easy for the scale to insert its tiny beak and suck out the sap. Here the insect multiplies rapidly and soon spreads over the tree. There are two species, European and American, but the scale makes no distinction between them.

The red-branched and yellow-branched dogwoods or cornus are as unfortunate as the mountain ash. If the scale gets upon them, they are soon covered with it.

An ornamental plum, called Prunus fassordi, is planted for its flowers and red foliage. Unless it can be sprayed it ought not to be planted, as it is a favorite with the scale. If neglected after it has become infested it is soon killed.

Many years ago the Osage orange was extensively planted for making hedges. It proved to be a nuisance. The best known use for it is to make a bonfire of it, root and branch. The scale will kill it to the ground, but it sprouts up and continues to be a harbor for the pest. No orchard owner should tolerate it in the vicinity of fruit trees.

Current bushes are destroyed by the scale in two or three years. Raspberries and blackberries do not escape. Roses are less liable to attack, but are not immune.

There are many other trees and shrubs upon which the San Jose scale will live, but on most of them it leads a starvation existence and does not multiply rapidly enough to cause serious injury. However, if a tree is dying or is unthrifty it is well to look for scale.

Those trees and shrubs most subject to scale should not be planted unless they are to be sprayed. By omitting them from the list when ordering for planting much trouble can be saved.
