BILL OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

About 215 members of the lower house of the national government have gone on record in favor of the Stevens bill, and its passage appears almost assured. Notwithstanding this fact, there have been no hearings on the bill, the committee on interstate and foreign affairs, which should be the tribunal for preliminary arguments, since the measure was referred to it, has been inactive. The friends of the measure have smoked out the opposition, and now the price-cutting department stores and mail order houses have combined with the trading stamp people in an open organization, and are in the fight. This rather clears the atmosphere, since it has been plain to the merchants in small towns for many years that the cutting of the prices on nationally advertised goods, has been a great trick by which the business of the small towns has been drawn to the large cities. Price regulation, as provided for in the Stevens bill, is most certainly in the interest of the small town, the small merchant and the consumer. The president and the department of commerce spoke out in behalf of price regulation, and protection of legitimate trade, fully two years ago. With congress practically committed to the proposition, it would seem that legislation is assured. But congress needs poking up a little; therefore, people should write to their members. Make yourself a small town booster. There is no good reason why thousands of dollars should be shipped out of every community each week for the purchase of goods from mail order houses and price cutting department stores, who make their big profits by simply giving less for one's money than the local merchant, who pays taxes and helps in putting his community on the map.

FAILURE OF FREE SUGAR

While the urgent need of more revenue undoubtedly is the main reason for the action of the administration in deciding to continue a duty on sugar, it is no secret in well informed political circles in Washington that the president and his advisors have been greatly disappointed by the failure of "free sugar" to prove a popular drawing card, and by the fact that sugar prices have been higher instead of lower since the tariff was reduced by the Underwood law. It is reported that the representatives of the refiners are planning a last desperate fight in the senate to prevent the repeal of the free sugar clause, or else, failing in that, to put a consumer's tax of a cent a pound on all sugar grown in the United States, which would accomplish the object of the refiners just as well by driving American sugar producers out of business. It is not believed possible, however, that the small coterie of Democratic senators who will support this plan can prevail against the strength of the administration and the Democratic majority in the House.

It is, perhaps, not generally known that the voting on the good roads bonding proposition, to come up at the April election, can be participated in by the women of the county, if they are property owners, and are duly registered. Every qualified male elector has a right to vote on the bonding whether a property owner or not.

WILLING TO BE GENEROUS

Colored Man Was More Than Pleased to Give Order to "Stranger in His Mist"

A drummer for a New York grocery house took shelter from a thunder shower in a small grocery kept by a colored man in the suburbs of Nashville and pretty soon the proprietor asked:

"Was yo' a stranger around yere, sah?"

"I represent this house," replied the drummer, as he handed out one of his cards.

"I see. Does yo' own de business yo'self?"

"Oh, no."

"Was yo' de senior pawdner?"

"No."

"De junior?"

"No."

"Was yo' backin' de concern wid yo' capital?"

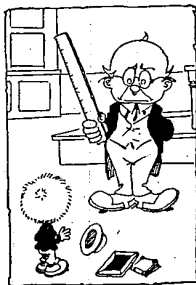

"No."

"Just sent out to take orders?"

"That's all. Perhaps I can take an order from you."

"Well, sah, if dat house has dun sent yo' claim down here to get an order from me, I ain't gwine ter be mean about it. Just put me down fur fo' pounds of brown sugar an' draw on me arter sixty days fur de bill."

JUST A SUGGESTION

Teacher—Johnnie, can't we find some remedy for your regular tardiness?

Pupil—Well, dey might move de school about a mile closer to my house.

A MATTER OF PRINCIPLE.

"Do you ever go fishing on Sunday?"

"No, it's wrong," replied the small boy.

"I'm glad to see you have such high principles."

"Yes, sir. Nobody ever catches any fish around here, not even on Sunday."

TOO MUCH FOR MAMMA.

"What's that in the water, mamma?"

"A crane, Ethel."

"It's only standing on one leg, mamma."

"Yes, dear."

"Why don't he wash both feet at once, mamma?"

A SERIOUS DIFFICULTY.

American—I suppose you will abolish the house of lords some day?

Englishman—But I don't see how I can, me boy. There is no precedent for such a thing.—Puck.

OBJECTIONABLE.

"I object to barbarous warfare."

"So do I," replied the military expert. "A barbarian with a spear or a bow and arrow wouldn't stand the ghost of a show these days."

HEREDITY.

"That girl is so slighting to other people because her father is a successful aviator."

"Yes, I noticed she had very airy manners."

BEATS PAYING RENT.

Hyker—Does Flytt move in good society?

Pyker—I don't know about the society, but I know he is always moving.

Cannot Praise Them Enough

Many sick and tired women, with aches and pains, sore muscles and stiff joints, do not know that their kindreds are out of order. Mrs. N. G. Wells, Box 90, Route 5, Rocky Mount, N. Woman Finally Recovers From Nervous Breakdown

Impoverished nerves destroy many people before their time. Often before a sufferer realizes what the trouble is, he is on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown. It is of the utmost importance to keep your nervous system in good condition, as the nerves are the source of all bodily power. Mrs. Rosa Bonner, 825 N. 18th St., Birmingham, Ala., says:

"I have been suffering with nervous prostration for nine or ten years. Have tried many of the best doctors in Birmingham, but they all failed to reach my case. I would feel as if I was smothering; finally I went into convulsions. My little girl saw Dr. Miles' Nervine advertised in the papers and I at once began to take it. I continued to take it for some time and now I am well."

If you are troubled with loss of appetite, poor digestion, weakness, inability to sleep; if you are in a general run down condition and unable to bear your part of the daily grind of life, you need something to strengthen your nerves. You may not realize what is the matter with you, but that is no reason why you should delay treatment.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

has proven its value in nervous disorders for thirty years, and merits a trial, no matter how many other remedies have failed to help you. Sold by all druggists. If first bottle fails to benefit your money is returned.
