BOOST YOUR LOCAL PAPER

"Why don't you newspaper fellows get after this abuse; why don't you advocate that improvement; why don't you tell those fellows where they get off at; why don't you tear things wide open and show 'em up the way they ought to be shown up?"

These are questions that are put to every newspaper in the country almost every day in the year. Sometimes the paper does take up the fight and once in a while carries it to a successful issue and in ninety nine cases out of one hundred in which a paper is successful in moulding public sentiment for the elimination of an abuse or the inauguration of an improvement, the credit is taken by some one else and the paper is given to understand that it should consider itself privileged to be allowed to participate at all.

On the other hand, when a newspaper has the temerity to undertake anything of this kind that fails from lack of public support to bring it about the very people who at the inception of the campaign were most eager in their urging of the newspaper to go in the fight, will be the first to say, "Well we thought it was foolish to stir the thing up at this time. Of course the paper was right, but there was no use butting its head against a stone wall."

Every sincere and earnest newspaper is, and should stand for the betterment of the community it serves and in this work it is entitled not only to the approval of its readers but their assistance.

It is popular in certain quarters to criticize the newspapers. Every one who has a pet project warms the paper to boost for it, in sense and out, but these people seldom take trouble to boost the paper. They will insist that the home paper is in duty bound to devote itself unselfishly to the promotion of anything and everything that in any way may be claimed of benefit to this community, but if a Detroit or Pontiac paper solicitor comes along with a premium the local paper is very apt to be informed over the telephone to stop sending the paper to so and so.

A good newspaper is the greatest asset any community has, and the best way to keep a good newspaper is to be loyal to it.

Do you want a good home paper? Do you appreciate the effort we are making to give you the best possible? Are you helping us in making it so by giving us the little items that help to make the local paper worth while? Do you ever say a good word to your neighbor, friend, and thus boost us a little?

We are in Farmington to "stay," and make this our permanent home. Our purpose is not alone to make money, but we have a desire to make the Enterprise one of the best papers in Oakland county, and with your co-operation we can do so. Will you help us to achieve our ambition?

We need many more subscribers, and although we have steadily added to our list since taking charge of the Enterprise we want more, and should have them.

We have already given more local news and country correspondence than our predecessors, so if we are informed, and yet there is room for improvement along this line, and we are making every effort to give you more news, not only in the village, but from all the surrounding country.

We are always ready and anxious to boost any and all improvement for Farmington and surrounding territory, and invite your criticism if our views on any question do not meet with your approval.

Will you boost for us? We will do as much for you.

Don't forget those lines

Around the County

Wayne county Republicans have organized a Leland-For-Governor club.

Elmer Bromley, aged 45 years, committed suicide at Rochester last week by the strychnine route. His mother and little son survive. Cupid made a hit at the Northville Record last Friday, when Miss Hazel Perkins, daughter of the editor, was united in marriage to Horace Boyden, also of the Record staff.

The Y.M.C.A. boys of the county will camp at Voorhies lake from June 20th to July 7th. The pastors of the county are expected to hold their first annual summer meeting there on June 26th.

Mrs. Marie Bennett, of Milford, celebrated her 93rd birthday anniversary recently. Although nearing the century mark Mrs. Bennett is in good health, retaining interest in the doings of the world.

Congressman Charles A. Towne, of New York City, who was born in Oakland county, will speak at the centennial celebration in Pontiac on August 23rd. He will be accompanied by his aged parents.

Motorcycle officer W. A. Putnam, the Pontiac officer injured some three weeks ago, when his machine got beyond his control and ran into a fence, is able to be about the street, but remembers nothing about the accident or what caused it.

At the hearing in the juvenile court at Pontiac last Saturday of the cases of Stanley Bose, William Jaynes and Arthur Hall, charged with breaking into a school house in district No. 7, Bloomfield, and destroying property, Bose was committed to the juvenile home for a week and the cases of the latter two continued for one week.

For Obvious Reasons.

"A fascinating widow, with an equally fascinating daughter."
"A great team, eh?"
"I'd hardly call it a team. They never shine together."
