

BIG OVATION IS GIVEN HUGHES

CARNEGIE HALL CROWDED TO ITS CAPACITY AT HUGHES NOTIFICATION.

COL. ROOSEVELT ATTENDED

Former President Taft Was the Only Notable Republican Leader Absent.

New York—Charles E. Hughes pledged himself to a policy of firmness and consistency in dealing with Mexico, if elected to the presidency.

Accepting the formally tendered Republican nomination, Mr. Hughes charged the sinking of the Lusitania, and the loss of American lives in that and subsequent United States attacks.

He unambiguously indicated the extension of suffrage to women. He denounced all plots and conspiracies in the interest of any foreign nation.

Declaring the nation to be "shockingly unprepared," he declared for "adequate national defenses; adequate protection on both our western and eastern coasts."

The present national prosperity, Mr. Hughes characterized as a "fool's paradise" brought about by the "abnormal conditions of war," and he advocated as a needful safeguard against an "energized Europe" which will follow the close of the war, "effective upbuilding policies" which shall be applied "fairly, without abuses, in as scientific a manner as possible."

He likewise declared for a merchant marine that will not put the government in competition with private capital.

Finally, Mr. Hughes made a strong plea for peace, to further which he proposes the formation of an international tribunal to adjust all controversies of a justifiable nature.

The capacity of Carnegie hall was taxed by the throng of reunited Republicans and Hull Messors who gathered to participate in the notification proceedings.

Senator Warren C. Harding, of Ohio, chairman of the notification committee, presided, and laid the formal nomination before Mr. Hughes in a brief speech which set the pace for the enthusiasm which marked the proceedings despite the stifling heat.

A particular demonstration was accorded Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. The colonel entered his box on the first tier, and as he took his seat beside Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the house burst into applause.

Former President Taft was the only notable Republican leader east of the Mississippi who did not attend the ceremony which formally opens the Republican campaign.

TWO AMERICANS ARE KILLED

U. S. Troops Reinforced by Carranza Soldiers Fight Bandits.

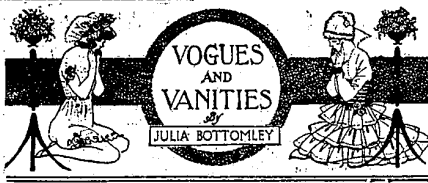

El Paso, Tex.—American soldiers, reinforced by a small detachment of Carranza troops, engaged Mexican bandits who had crossed the Rio Grande into the United States, about five miles below Fort Hancock, Tex., 50 miles east of here.

Two Americans were killed and one was wounded. Only two of the outlaws escaped across the river into Mexico, where they are being pursued by Mexican troops.

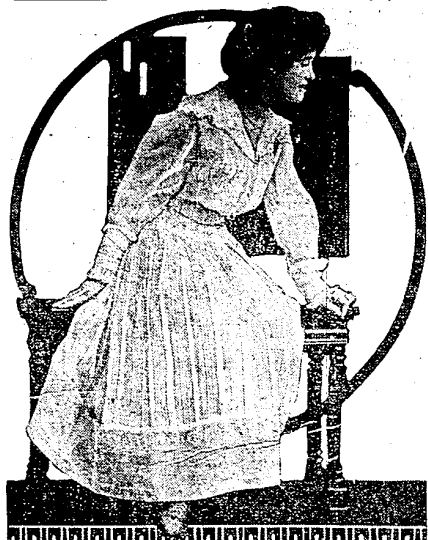

Robert Wood, a United States customs inspector received word that the bandits were in hiding in an adobe hut, Sergeant Lewis Thompson of Company C, Eighth Massachusetts Infantry was ordered to investigate.

The hut was riddled with bullets and when the bandits failed to return the fire the hut was entered and three dead Mexicans were found.

VOGUES AND VANITIES JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Happy Union of Voile and Organdie.

Transparent organdie, daintily embroidered, and striped or flower-sprinkled voiles are evidently made for one another. Aided by hemstitching, designers have joined them and no one would ever wish to put them asunder.

The happy union is numerous, whistled, and altogether adorable. Little afternoon and party frocks with much embroidering charm. One of them makes its appearance, and every feminine beholder runs straight to adopting to acquire such a frock for herself.

Designers vie with one another in making alluring models, and have shown how much can be done with these simple materials. One of the prettiest is made of white voile, having a delicate crossbar in lines that are of blue, green, rose and black. But they are so fine that the colors are indistinct.

Little spots of blue and pink, daisy roses, no larger than a pen, are scattered over it. The skirt is made of three wide bands of voile set together with a dainty embroidered edge.

The bodice is made over a deep collar of the embroidered organdie. The bodice is finished with the bottom of the skirt.

The baby waist is cut with short kimono sleeves. These are lengthened by puffs of organdie extending to the wrist. This is gathered into a cuff of the embroidered organdie finished with val lace.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The first lesson of life is to burn our own smoke; that is, not to inflict on ourselves our personal sorrows and petty morbidities, not to let our feelings of ourselves as exceptional cases.—James Russell Lowell.

SALAD DRESSINGS.

A salad dressing makes or mars a salad. Too little dressing or that which is so thin that it is unpleasant to eat, should be avoided.

There are any number of bottled dressings which are commonly used, but the savory dressing especially for vegetables is the French dressing and the mayonnaise. These are both made with oil as the chief ingredient.

To make French dressing, which is the simplest form of salad dressing, have the mixing bowl cold and with the oil; mix the condiments, using a half teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of cayenne, six tablespoonfuls of oil and two to four of vinegar, depending somewhat upon the taste, the consistency of foods, or the acidity of the vinegar. The ice is sometimes used as a mixing spoon by pressing it into it or against it. Mix the condiments and the oil and mix again, then add the acid, a few drops at a time, beating until an emulsion is formed. Another way to use this dressing is to pour the oil over the vegetables, tossing until evenly mixed, then sprinkle with salt and pepper and add the vinegar and toss again. When a quantity of dressing is needed it may be put into a mason jar for use for mixing, put on the rubber cover and give it a good shaking to mix the dressing.

Mayonnaise Dressing.—Take the yolks of two eggs, beat well and then add a teaspoonful of mustard, a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of red pepper, a teaspoonful of powdered sugar and mix again; then add oil, drop by drop, until it is very thick, when the acid may be added, also a few drops of wine; beat until evenly mixed and use two tablespoonfuls each of lemon juice and vinegar. After the dressing has used a cupful of oil, the oil may be added freely. Have all the dishes and ingredients cold and the dressing will not separate. If this should happen, start the process all over again, using fresh egg yolk, and use the dressing to beat into it as if it were the oil.

Requester Cheese Salad Dressing.—Make a French dressing by using nine tablespoonfuls of olive oil and four of vinegar, one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, a dash of red pepper and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. When blended add three tablespoonfuls of chili sauce and two tablespoonfuls of thick sweet cream. Put on ice and chill. Just before serving add a fourth of a pound of Requester cheese, cut in fine pieces. This will serve ten people.

It is not the events of life nor its emotions, nor the joys nor the sorrows, but life itself which is good.

A thought, good or evil, and act, in time a habit, so runs life's law, what you live in your thought, word or deed, sooner or later you will find embodied in your life.—Ralph Waldo Trine.

FRUIT SALADS.

This is a nice sweet salad to serve with cake. Peel and slice for bananas, four oranges and two lemons. Carefully remove the seeds. Take half a pineapple from the core in small pieces with a silver fork. Hull on ice and chill. Just before serving add a fourth of a pound of Requester cheese, cut in fine pieces. This will serve ten people.

Sweet Salad Dressing.—Boil together one cupful of sugar and a half cupful of water five minutes, then pour on to the beaten yolks of three eggs; return to the fire and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened; cool and add the juice of two lemons.

Fig and Nut Salad.—Slice pulled figs, cooked and cooled, and mix them with two pieces of nuts or blanched almonds. Serve with French dressing, using orange and lemon juice instead of vinegar. When fresh figs are available they are better uncooked.

Taratouille Salad.—Mix together equal parts of celery and apple, cut in matchlike strips and one or two fresh red plums, cut likewise. Dress with mayonnaise, made light with whipped cream.

Peach Salad.—Cut ripe, fine-flavored peaches in halves, serve with a sirup made of orange juice (the grated rind) and sugar; sprinkle with the petals of tea roses and serve at once.

Almond and Peach Salad.—Sprinkle peeled quarters of peaches with shredded blanched almonds; cover with a dressing of whipped cream, with a tablespoonful of unpeeled, boiled dressing blended in it. Serve cold.
