New Sports Suits for Autumn.

Before the summer sports or pastime suits have vanished from our midst their successor has entered and made its bow. It is destined to bloom with the goldenrod and asters and it is naturally of heavier materials than the suits for summer weather. Serge, velveteen, and corduroy contribute to its durability and to its style as well. The suits for autumn will be innocent of stripes. Those shown so far are of plain materials or of plaids and plain fabrics made up together, and they are undeniably smart. Young or old, woman year about the same styles in them, and they subtract years from the matron's appearance in a way to make her rise up and call them blessed, besides cheerfully parting with her good money for them.

Among the most enticing suits, those made of white serge combined with the same materials in handsome colored plaids are triumphing. Some-

DAIRY THE DAIRY

UNIFORM COLOR IS DESIRED

Coloring Should Be Added Just Before Churning Begins—Overchurning Is Undesirable.

A uniform color in the butter from one season to the other is desirable, hence during the winter when the cows are getting dry feed a little coloring should be added. Too much coloring, however, is very undesirable. When coloring is used it should be added just before the churning begins. Stopping the churn at the proper time has much to do with the quality of the butter. It should be stopped when the butter is in the form of granules about the size of a kernel of wheat or a trifle larger. When the butter is churned to too small granules many of them will go through the buttermilk strainer and will cause more or less loss. Overchurning is undesirable because the butter will retain considerable buttermilk, which is difficult to remove and which also tends to cause the butter to deteriorate faster. As soon as the churning has been completed, the buttermilk should be drawn off.

BLACKLEG IS TO BE AVOIDED

Infectious Disease Usually Attacks Cattle Between Ages of Six Months and Two Years.

The infectious disease known as blackleg usually affects cattle between the ages of six months and two and one-half years. It gains entrance to the tissues through small wounds on the skin.

A swelling occurs beneath the skin on the hindquarters, the shoulder, or the lower portion of the neck. If the hand is passed over this swelling it crackles, and if cut into, a yellowish, bloody fluid flows out. The animal is burned and the spots where they died should be disinfected.

The healthy cattle should be removed from infected pastures and all susceptible cattle should be vaccinated.

WELL-SELECTED DAIRY HERD

Holsteins Have Distinct Lead at Present Time, Both in Popular Favor and Records.

When it comes to dairy performance, the farmer who will give careful shelter, feed and treatment to a really well selected herd of Holsteins, Ayrshires, Guernseys or Jerseys will find them all good; but if he is going to give bad treatment to his cattle, a common "rustler," with no special recommendation.

tion at all except the agility to put up with hardship may be as profitable. No farmer can be absolutely assured of having a good producing herd simply by selecting a breed. If he tests his cows, and weeds out and breeds up, he can establish a good herd of any of the good breeds.

It is only fair to add, however, that both in popular favor and milk and butterfat records, the Holsteins have a distinct lead at the present time.

WOODEN WORKER FOR BUTTER

Fork, Made Big and Strong Enough to Bear Strain, Is of Great Help in Mixing Salt.

Sometimes butter is mottled and uneven in coloring because of the salt not being evenly and uniformly mixed and dissolved. A wooden butter fork, made big and strong enough to bear considerable strains will be a valuable

FREQUENT FEEDING OF CALF

Stomach Is Quite Small and Will Not Hold Large Quantity of Milk at One Time.

The stomach of the calf is small and will not hold a large quantity of milk at one time. This makes it necessary to feed it as often as practicable. Overfeeding will cause indigestion and may result in the death of the calf.

SAYS HYPNOTISM IS EASY

Prof. Munsterberg Declares He Can Bring Anybody He Ever Met Under Complete Subjugation.

Prof. Hugo Munsterberg, the Harvard psychologist, says he can hypnotize anybody he ever met, according to a Cambridge (Mass.) dispatch to the New York Evening Telegram. He knows Kaiser Wilhelm very well, and said he would not except the kaiser. The Harvard summer school students were told how easy it is to hypnotize anybody, almost as easy as "rolling off a log." The professor predicted a great field in the future for the expert in mind control. He said:

"Hypnotism presents a vast field for the expert. It is so easy to produce the hypnotic trance that anyone can do it on others, but it is exceedingly dangerous when thoughtlessly or ignorantly used. It is simply a case of increasing the suggestibility of the mind, and it can be used in medicine to cure the morphine fiend, the alcoholic and all who have abnormal desires. Often only a slight hypnosis is necessary to effect a cure for nervous disorders.

"Medicine equally with law, is to be the foe of the psychologist of the future. Every mental trait can be measured exactly by almost perfect standards." The old methods are obsolete and the whole science of diagnosis has been carried into the field of expert int. Psycho-analysis has a great futu p."

Two of a Kind.
The pale-faced passenger looked out of the car window with exceeding interest. Finally he turned to his seat mate:

"You likely think I never rode in the care before," he said, "but the fact is, partner, I just got out of prison this mornin', and it does me good to look around. It is good to be mighty rough, though, facin' my old-time friends. I s'pose, though, you ain't got much idea how a man feels in a case like that?"

"Perhaps I have a better idea of your feelings than you think," said the other gentleman with a sad smile. "I am just getting home from congress."

"There's a Reason"

Elegant Hats for Those in Mourning.

Two very elegant hats, made for those in mourning, are shown. They will satisfy the most discriminating taste for they fulfill all the requirements for correct millinery of this particular kind. They are made in conservative and becoming shapes, of English crepe or of a specially woven silk and crepe, and the workmanship in them is above reproach.

An all-crepe hat is shown at the left, and all the world over its import is understood. It is the material used for the first period of mourning. The shape is a drooping brimmed sailor of moderate size, and it is covered smoothly with crepe. The facing is of a texture that lends itself to the making of flower forms, and the trimming of this hat is made of crepe. There are four large roses, each made of three sizes of crepe petals set about a cabochon of crepe at the center of the flower. The hat is lined with a soft silk.

The second hat is of silk with a wing miteed. It folds across the front of the hat and terminates in a large cabochon at the right side.

Neither of these hats is of a conventional size to be worn with a veil. Vels of silk net, bordered with crepe, take the place of all-crepe veils in new millinery. Or mesh veils bordered with bands of narrow grosgrain ribbon may be used after the period of first mourning is passed. There is much latitude in the choice of styles and the wearing of mourning in this country. But those who elect to wear extremes of styles are in keeping with the reserve that marks mourning apparel. Fabrics must be good and workmanship of the best. Crepe remains the unquestioned indication of mourning.

Net Wraps Five Layers Deep.
Before the beautiful Broadway cloaks, which are already in New York ready for the opera season, are allowed to see the light there is being shown and worn joyously a new sort of evening cap, are made of five layers of silk net colored often like a flame opal. They furnish just enough protection against the night air and do not "limp" with the damp, for there is no dressing in it.
