RECOGNITION.

It seems as though in this prosperous day and age of our business people, and that of people in general, that Farmington should realize the fact that their patrons would appreciate and highly enjoy a home coming in their own beautiful little village, which is growing and spreading as fast in proportion as their sister cities and towns.

Certainly she needs a little recognition. If the people who live in Farmington and vicinity, and the business men who depend on these same people for their prosperity, do not show their interest and appreciation of the growth of our town, who is there that will?

It certainly is a well known fact that the few dollars which would be invested in that way, would be more than replaced on such an occasion, and a feeling of good will established toward Farmington in general, which would extend far beyond the borders of our pretty town.

One of the most important features, a band, is already here, and with a little encouragement, and a few of those solid articles commonly known as dollars, this same band would certainly disperse music which would please the most fastidious.

A widening out, a broader look, and a plentiful sprinkling of generosity only helps to make better patrons, better business men, better citizens and a better town.

PROPOSED APPLE LEGISLATION.

The Michigan State Horticultural Society at its recently held mid-summer meeting at Traverse City passed a resolution urging that steps be taken to secure from the next legislature an apple grading law similar to the one now in force in New York state. It was also decided that a committee be appointed to prepare a draft which might become the basis of such a law as is desired by the fruit growers. This committee is to present its draft at the annual meeting of the State Society at Grand Rapids the first week in December. The New York law which is being used by a number of the states as a starting point in their efforts to get the apple industry on a sound commercial basis provides for four grades of fruit, namely, Standard fancy, Standard A, Standard B, and unclassified. The Standard A grade which would include the larger part of the marketed fruit "consists of apples of one variety which are well grown specimens, hand picked, properly packed, normal shape, practically free from dirt, diseases, insect and fungus injury, bruises and other defects except such as are necessarily caused in the operation of packing; or apples of one variety which are not more than ten per centum below the foregoing specifications on a combination of all defects or five per centum on any single defect. No apples in this grade shall show less than thirty three and one third per centum of good color for the variety."

Farmers' Wood Lots.

The Public Domain commission, in co-operation with the United States Forest Service, has published the data gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture Forest Service dealing with the farm wood lot situation in Michigan. It is the desire of the Public Domain commission to place a copy of this publication in the hands of every farmer who is interested in the wood lot problem, as it contains valuable and reliable information that will be of value to him. The farmer's wood lot is gaining in importance as the time goes by, and is fast taking its place with the orchard as one of the necessary aids in good farming. A copy of the publication above referred to can be secured by writing the Public Domain commission at Lansing.

State Prohibition and License

 I rode on horseback through from Saginaw to Jackson and counted the saloons at the cross-roads, where the boys from the country would come after their mail, and there were forty-nine.

 Two years after we secured license I went through again. I counted the number of saloons and there were seven, because, with the license system, they could not support more.

 Time went on; the license was raised and we controlled the business as best we could, and now, here we are today asking to put in absolute prohibition.

 IF WE DO, IN MY JUDGMENT, WE WOULD HAVE PRACTICALLY THE SAME CONDITIONS WE HAD IN YEARS BACK, WHEN WE HAD STATE PROHIBITION.

 AFTER HAVING SEEN THE EFFECTS OF ABSOLUTE PROHIBITION I DO NOT WANT TO SEE IT AGAIN BECOME A LAW IN THIS STATE.

 THERE ARE HUNDREDS OF DIVISIONS OF THE STATE WHERE WE CAN ENFORCE IT, SO, LET US START THERE IN A SMALL WAY AND GROW UP TO IT.

EIGHT YEARS AGO

Hon. Wellington R. Burt spoke the above words when he appeared before the Michigan Constitutional Convention, January 30th, 1908. The principles of Home Rule, and a smaller unit of option were outlined by Mr. Burt.

He declared state-wide prohibition to be an unworthy craft. Home Rule allows the unit of prohibition and regulation to be city, village and township in form.

It provides for community law and community enforcement. It fosters sane, safe, democratic and stable government of affairs.
