SCHOOL NOTES

Newsy Items of our Schools—the Pupils and Their Doings.

Monthly examinations this week. One new enrollment in grammar room this week.

William Dickerson is absent on account of sickness.

Miss Laura Linn is a new student in the ninth grade.

Percy Powers was a welcome visitor in the high school Monday. Cecil Cox and Nettie Dickerson were pleasant visitors in the high school last week.

Pupils are doing fine in regard to coming to school on time. Parents, let's help keep the good cause going.

The girls in Miss Day's room, the "Double Four" club, gave an entertainment in the Universalist church last Tuesday evening.

The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades are enjoying the reading of the "Reformation of Jimmy's."

A beautiful bouquet as asters was presented to the school Wednesday by Mrs. Fred M. Warner. The gift was greatly admired by all the teachers and students.

The ancient, medieval and modern histories have arrived, and the classes have been started. These books were lost while being shipped from Chicago; therefore the delay in receiving them.

The first number of the lecture course will be October 20th, instead of October 23rd, as previously stated. Season tickets are for $1.00 each. Season tickets for all pupils below the high school at 50 cents each; all in the high school 75 cents each. Four students Mildred Prindle, Marguerite Moore, Herman Nichols and St. Clair Switzer are canvassing the town to sell these tickets. Tickets may also be secured from the teachers.

Obituary.

Burt J. Roche was born in Farmington township August 9, 1870. His parents were Michael and Mary Roche, natives of Ireland. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Davis, of Farmington; Mrs. My Wohlgenuth, of Grand Rapids; besides his wife.

FELL 32 FEET INJURIES, FATAL

Wallace Hatten Died Three Hours Later From Collapse of Sile.

J. W. Hatten, one of the pioneer residents of this village fell with the collapse of a sile on the Nichols farm, on which he was working last Friday afternoon, about 1 o'clock, and received injuries from which he died three hours later.

Mr. Hatten was putting up a sile on the farm of Nichols brothers, three miles north of town and had the structure nearly completed, and was at the top, a distance of 32 feet, when the strong wind seemed to twist the whole structure, and it collapsed in a pile on the ground, Mr. Hatten and his helper going with it, the latter not being seriously injured.

In falling Mr. Hatten first struck on the edge of an adjoining barn and bounced off to the ground. He was picked up and taken into the house when medical help and everything possible done for him, but he gradually grew weaker until about 4 o'clock, when he passed away, remaining conscious nearly to the last.

Internal injuries probably caused his death as he was not badly bruised outwardly.

James Wallace Hatten was born in Hamilton, Ont., March 18, 1850, his childhood being spent in Miltonville, Ohio, on the Maumee river and in Southfield this country. The family later moved to the Hatten farm near this village in 1868, his seventeenth year being spent in school at La Grange, Ind., and the years from 1869 to 1872 at the Ypsilanti Normal. The remaining years of his life were spent in this village and vicinity. Mr. Hatten was married to Miss Martha Ely in October, 1875, and to them were born three children, Emory and Roy, of Detroit and Miss Mary Hatten, an instructor at the Ypsilanti Normal, who, together with his wife survive him. He is also survived by his mother, who is a lady in her 87th year, one brother, Carl Hatten, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Ely, besides a large number of other relatives and warm friends.

The funeral, which was largely attended, there being 28 nieces and nephews present, was held from the home in this village Tuesday afternoon, Rev. George Gullen, of Detroit, officiating, and the remains laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Oscar Harger.

Friday in Detroit occurred the death of Mrs. Annie Harger, wife of Oscar Harger, well known in this section.

Years ago Mr. and Mrs. Harger resided on a farm north and west of Farmington; then a few years were spent at Northville, while the last three years they have made Detroit their home. Mrs. Harger had been an invalid for eight years, but the last three weeks she had been very ill, and the end came Friday.

The funeral was held from the home in Detroit Monday, and burial was made at the North Farmington cemetery.

Birthday Anniversary.

Sunday the 24th occurred the 33rd birthday of William VanAlstyne, about 23 guests being present to help him celebrate. The near neighbors and Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap and daughter, Chauncey Arnold and wife, of Williamston, were among the guests.

The table was prettily arranged, and of course the most interesting feature of the decorations was a large birthday cake in pyramid form, covered with 83 candles, numbering Mr. VanAlstyne's years. A pleasant time was enjoyed by all, and all wished him many more happy birthdays.

Mr. VanAlstyne is enjoying very good health these days.

Bring in your old car and drive home a new Saxon. W. H. Lee & Sons, Farmington.

Wahnegi Rebekah Lodge No. 219 will give a fair and bazaar Saturday, November 11th. Watch for further particulars.

Another Pioneer.

Zaida L. Angel Wilcox was born in Livingston county, N. Y., September 11th, 1848, and passed away September 21, 1916.

She came to Michigan when 7 years of age and settled in the township of Novi, where she resided until August 1, 1870, when she was united in marriage to Hudson Wilcox, who passed away October 24, 1910. To them were born two daughters, one of whom passed away January 31, 1900. Besides her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Chamberlin, she is survived by two brothers, Alphonse Angel, of Novi; John Angel, of Redford, and a large circle of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Wilcox was a charter member of Farmington Chapter of O. E. S., and also a member of the Willing Workers of West Farmington. The funeral, which was held on the auspices of the Eastern Star, Rev. Willis Moore, of the Church of Our Father, Detroit, conducted the service. Interment at Oakwood cemetery.

School Fair a Success

The school fair, given by the literary and athletic club, was a complete success from both entertainment and financial standpoints. All the work for this fair was done by the officers and committees of the association, and much credit is due them for the way in which they handled the affair.

The usual African Dodge, Wildman and Comedians were on the grounds, and caused much merriment and laughter.

Heddogs and homemade candies were in such demand, it was almost impossible to keep supplied.

The Paddle wheel was great amusement. Everyone holding a paddle expecting the lone box of candy, and every time, some one was the lucky one, while the rest were slightly disappointed, only to come back and get the next box.

The net proceeds of the occasion are around $35, and magazines and pictures will be ordered soon.

The association wishes to thank the public for the way they turned out and helped to make the fair a success.

Rhoades-Schueett

Married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schueett, their eldest daughter, Miss Ethel Schueett to Frank L. Rhoades, of Reynoldsville, Pa.

The bride wore a beautiful dress of blue silk, while the maids of honor wore gray and blue. The maids of honor were a sister of the bride, Mrs. Russell Forton, and a cousin, Miss Irene Spaller, of Farmington. The best men were a brother-in-law of the bride, Russell Forton, and an uncle, Charles Spaller, of Farmington. The bride and brides maids wore bouquets of roses and carnations.

The wedding was held at the home of Rev. George Gullen. From there they motored to the photo gallery; then returning to the home of the bride's parents, where a beautiful supper and about 30 guests awaited them.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades left Saturday for Reynoldsville, Pa., where they will visit the groom's relatives.

They will be at home to relatives and friends after October 1st, when the groom will return to work at the Gemme Mfg., where he is inpector. They will reside at 1236 Vermont avenue, Detroit.

Leach-Gitzel

A quiet wedding was recently solemnized at the residence of Rev. George E. Gullen, Detroit, pastor of the West Grand Boulevard M. E. church, when Miss Mable Leach, of Farmington, and Emil Gitzel, of Detroit, were pronounced man and wife. A cousin, Mrs. Maude Harmon, of Detroit, acted as matron of honor, and Harry Harmon acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Gitzel took a short honeymoon trip to Cleveland, Ohio.

They will be at home to their many friends at the farm home of Charles Leach, Mrs. Gitzel's father after October 1st. The Farmington friends together with the Enterprise, wish them much joy and happiness.

Enterprise liners—they pay. The Ladies' Aid will hold a bake goods sale Saturday, September 30th, in the room back of the E. C. Grace store.

SUICIDE IN PONTIAC SUNDAY

B. J. Roche, Son-in-Law of Palmer Sherman, Took the Contents of a Two-Ounce Bottle of Carbolic Acid

Burt J. Roche, aged 46 years, a son-in-law of Palmer Sherman of this village, was found dead in a room at the Woodward Annex, Pontiac, last Sunday afternoon, a two-ounce bottle with a few drops of carbolic acid lying on the floor, together with a note asking that his wife, Rhoda, at Farmington be notified. That she would care for his body.

Mrs. Roche is a daughter of Palmer Sherman of this village, and had not lived with her husband since last June, owing to his habitual use of liquor. During a part of the summer Roche had been in Grand Rapids working at his trade, that of carpenter, coming back to Pontiac last Thursday, and must have committed the deed between Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, when a chambermaid found the body.

The funeral was held at Pontiac Wednesday afternoon and the remains brought to North Farmington for burial.

Mrs. Roche has been at the country home of C. F. Smith, west of here, for some time past. There are no children, but Mr. Roche leaves two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Davis, of North Farmington, and Mrs. May Wohlgenuth, of Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Roche had lived in this village and vicinity up to two years ago, where he formerly worked in F. M. Warner's old Spring Brook cheese factory.

He was a member of the local lodge F. & A. M., six members, T. H. McGee, J. C. Clark, Ralph Hogle, Will, Henry and Fred Pauline acting as pallbearers.

CHURCH NOTES

You are cordially invited to these services.

Methodist Church

Rev. J. S. Priestly, the new pastor will occupy the pulpit next Sunday. Rev. Priestly comes here from Dundee, where he has been pastor for the past four years, and is recommended to us as a hustler, with the required vim and energy to "make things go."

Sunday school at the usual hour. Welcome.

Rally Day services a week from Sunday, in place of the regular preaching service, the subject being "Pioneers of Methodism." The program will be in charge of the Sunday school.

Rev. Oliver, of Detroit, a superannuated preacher, 76 years of age, occupied the pulpit last Sunday morning and delivered a most interesting sermon.

The newly organized Adult Bible class will hold its second meeting at the home of Mrs. P. L. Cook next Tuesday evening, October 3rd.

The Ladies' Aid will meet next Thursday, October 5th, with Mrs. Albert Conn.

Universalist Church

The people who were fortunate enough to hear Dr. Willis A. Moore last Sunday are certainly enjoying the memories of that hour. Dr. Moore spoke on the subject, "Singing Against the Holy Ghost," and in a nice manner gave his congregation a very plain understanding of the way in which it is done, and how it may be overcome. "Speaking ill of the good a person is seemingly trying to accomplish—we have no right to judge. God knoweth the sincerity of the effort, where humanity cannot know." It was an hour well spent, and our Universalist friends have a very cosy, pleasant place of worship.

The Universalist state convention will be held in Charlotte on October 9, 10 and 11, in a church which has been built up by Rev. Conklin in the last two years. It had been a menace to the public when Rev. Conklin went there, threatening to collapse, but by his efforts, patience and watchfulness there now is a beautiful edifice which the people of Charlotte are proud of, and in which the convention will be held.

All who can are urged to attend, as it means a boost for the coming year.

The last meeting of the Ladies' Union was held with Mrs. Lucy Steele Thursday, September 21st. This was the annual meeting and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Mary Crosby; vice-president, Mrs. Minnie Johnson; secretary, Miss Zaida Steele; treasurer, Mrs. Lucy Steele. Fourteen members and visitors attended and a lunch was served, the proceeds of dues and lunch being $9.85. The next meeting of the Union will be held with Mrs. Mary Sprague October 5th. Lunch will be served and all members and their friends are invited.
