

Billy Sunday vs. Booze

Billy Sunday, the implacable foe of booze, has a message for you. In unmistakable, picturesque, understandable language he hammers home, straight from the shoulder, argument upon argument against it. Do see, hear, read what he says of it. No man knows more about it or is better qualified to convince you of the evil of drink, the curse of humanity.

Then, those of you on whom booze has a strange hold—or is quickly getting one—will do well to consult the Neal Institute upon the treatment that absolutely removes all desire, craving or appetite for it. We guarantee it.

FARM POULTRY

WELFARE OF YOUNG TURKEYS

Dampness Is Fatal to Poults During First Few Weeks—Allow Flocks to Roam at Will.

Young turkeys may dry ground on which to roost. Dampness is fatal during the first few weeks. Poults that come out in bright weather and are blessed with two weeks of sunshine in which to get a start in life, may leave earlier-hatched birds behind. Assuming that the parent stock is vigorous, young turkeys are not difficult to rear successfully. The mother turkey will rid herself of vermin and teach the young to do the same if she has access to a good dust bath. A little pure lard or sweet oil on the head and under the wings of the poults will destroy lice effectively.

Unless the weather is unusually warm and dry it is better to keep the young birds in a roomy open air pen the first two weeks of their life. After that they may be allowed to go where they will, except that it is better not to let them out until the dew has dried off in the morning for a few weeks longer. Restraint is detrimental to turkeys, as a general thing. The average grower should allow the flocks to roam over the fields at will. By so doing they will pick up nearly all of their summer and early fall food.

MALE IS DISTURBING FACTOR

Practice of Allowing Roosters Freedom of Flock After Hatching Season Is Over—Is Bad.

(By T. E. QUISENBERRY.)
The one fault in the management of farm flocks which, from the viewpoint of improving the quality of market eggs, is worse than all others combined, is the almost universal practice of allowing the males the freedom of the flock after the hatching season is over. Ninety per cent of the vast number of eggs that are candled out every summer as unfit for food are fertile eggs in which the germ has started to develop. A temperature of 50 degrees will start the germ in a fertile egg to slowly developing. A fertile egg subjected to a temperature of 100 degrees for 24 hours will unfit for food, while an infertile egg may be subjected to the same temperature for a week and still be perfectly good for cooking purposes.

The simple expedient of shutting up or disposing of the adult male birds as soon as the hatching season is over, if it should become the general custom, would result in the saving of a million of dollars' worth of eggs every season. Another important advantage in having no males in the laying pens is the fact that the hens without males running with them are much more gentle and quiet. The male is a disturbing factor.

CAPONIZE FOR BEST PRICES

Fowls Sell in Winter for 25 to 30 Cents a Pound—Most Attractive in Dozen Lots.

(By M. E. DICKSON, University of Wisconsin.)
Don't sell late chickens, cheap; caponize them.
Capon sell in winter from 25 to 30 cents a pound.
Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth Rocks and Brahmas make the best capons.

toward the backbone when making the incision.
Always dress capons "in style"—leave feathers around necks, hocks, on wing tips and end of the tail.
Ship capons in dozen lots; they bring better prices.

GIVE ATTENTION TO SHELTER

Fowls Require Shade in Summer and Protection From Cold and Damp Weather in Winter.

Attention must be given to shelter. The fowls will require shade in the summer and shelter from cold and damp weather in the winter. To meet these requirements it will require preparations. To wait till protection is actually needed may be too late. One must anticipate the needs of the fowls.

3,000 Pianos and Player Pianos Sold In Detroit Last Week

In a report from Detroit vouched for by those who know it has been reported that more than 300 Pianos and Player Pianos were sold in Detroit last week.

In an interview Wednesday, W. H. Goldblum, state mgr. for the Story & Clark Piano Co., said: "Never in all the years I have put in the piano business have I seen such activity in buying. In this great sale we are now having I actually was present and saw one of our salesmen sell Eight Pianos in one hour. The values that our company is offering this month had a great deal to do with the number of instruments sold. Crowds came to Detroit from all over the State to take advantage of the wonderful bargains offered. One buyer said to me: 'Do you know how much I would have to pay for this Grade of Piano in my home-town?'—$200. Now I am buying it here for $125—a saving of $75 and I had a little shopping trip at the same time."

See this big Story & Clark Announcement on another page in this issue. Story & Clark Piano Co. will pay freight on Pianos any place in the State and allow round trip railroad fare.

Opium-Eating an Old Vice.
Opium-taking, or opium-eating, is a very old vice. Without harking back to its use in those times when so many writers and speakers refer to as classic times, it is interesting to recall that in the time of Thomas De Quincey the opium habit was extensive in England—that is, it was extensive if the word of De Quincey, who should have had an intimate knowledge of this subject, be taken at its face value, and most men are certainly willing to accept that writer's word on this subject.
