FARMINGTON'S NEEDS

Farmington is growing rapidly, and with concerted effort and co-operation will continue to forge ahead. We are situated near the largest city in the state, in a charming residence district, with easy access to the markets of the entire world, and all that is needed to put Farmington on the map in "red letters" is co-operation and push by its merchants and progressive citizens.

Farmington needs a good, thoroughly alive business men's association. An organized effort for the progress of the town along lines of industry. A factory or two would put new life into the town, and they can be secured by a united effort. Other towns not as well situated as Farmington are securing manufacturing establishments. There are many firms in the city looking for outside locations, owing to the great expense of the city.

An organization of the most representative men of the community who will work in harmony for this town and its interests can do wonders towards progress.

Farmington needs to be advertised, not only as a residential village, but as one of the best villages for the establishment of manufacturing industries, and a business men's organization can bring about just such a condition. The time is now ripe for concerted effort and co-operation along commercial lines in Farmington, and the way to better our industrial condition is by organized effort.

Think it over and let's "start something" to put Farmington on the map commercially.

"The Adman," a magazine devoted to advertising says: "The man who does not advertise because he tried it once and failed should throw away his cigar because his light went out; the man who does not advertise because he does not know how, ought to stop eating because he can't cook."

Michigan's report of hunting fatalities during the season just closed is 25 killed and 15 wounded. The report gives Michigan the largest number killed of any state in the union, Illinois coming next with 13 killed, Minnesota 12, New York 11 and Wisconsin 9.

G. W. Elect Albert E. Sleeper has notified the state departments that after January 1, 1917, all expenses must be included in appropriations asked of the legislature—the first steps toward the establishment of a budget system in the state's financial affairs.

The report of the treasurer of the United States, shows an increase in gold for the year of $420,533,943. A staggering sum, isn't it? And yet, less than $5 a piece for every person in the country.

Only thirteen more shopping days. Why not do it early this year and get the worry off your mind. You will enjoy Christmas Day much better, and so will the merchant and clerks.

The second term yield of the political plum tree never is very abundant.

If some people were to "speak their minds" it wouldn't take them long.
