Fall Classes Begin At Community Center

FARMINGTON

The Farmington Community Center will offer 110 classes, seven workshops and seven mini-workshops this fall in 61 different subjects.

Some of the favorite classes will be given both daytime and evening, some at different levels for beginning, intermediate and advanced students – accounting for the discrepancy in the number of classes and subjects.

Brochures are in the mail describing the course in detail and formal registration days are set for Sept. 17 and 18 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Examples of arts and crafts to be taught will be on display both days. Many instructors will be present the first day of registration from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. to talk with prospective students.

Registration will continue until class maximums are reached. Many classes will begin the week of Sept. 24.

New classes offered are picture framing, bowling, basic income tax preparation, weaving, Chinese cooking, watercolor, advanced macrame, and filigree paper art.

Needlepointers on their own, and art workshops for children with Jackie Melissas are offered.

A series of mini-workshops for women with little time who want to complete a project in a day or two are: fun purses, Williamsburg Christmas decorations, Swedish strawcraft, herb wreaths, holiday hangups, and embroidered tote bags.

Relatively new courses, offered for the first time last spring, include ecology of the Farmington area, wine appreciation, jewelry making, Japanese cooking, herbs for use and for delight, and bargello.

One of the most sought after courses offered is a seminar "exciting challenge of estate planning."

Other popular courses are antiques, interior decorating, bridge I and II, guitar, speed reading, book discussion.

Those interested in art will find classes for all ages beginning with Jackie Melissas' "mothers and tots" and her new art workshops for older children, ages five to seven and eight to 11.

Cilla Hill will again offer Art for ages five to seven and her "Stained Glass" course.

Bill Harmon's "Mixed Media" for ages eight to 11, Oil Painting and Watercolor for adults complete the art roster.

Other classes for youngsters are "Story Time for Tots" and dramatics for elementary grades, Social Graces for Young Ladies and Spanish and French, for grades two through seven.

For exercise buffs, there is karate, slymnastics and yoga. Dance lovers will find ballet and tap and jazz dancing. Also offered is ballroom dancing and dance club for couples.

Classes in crewel, needlepoint, crocheting, knitting, quilting are also listed.

Other perennial favorites among the crafts are papier tole, decoupage, rug hooking, chair caning and a variety of workshops in candlemaking, dried flower arrangements, dried flower picutres and shadow boxes, new ideas in holiday decorations.

Further information can be obtained by calling the community center at 477-8404.

Survivors are his wife Lavonne; a son, George J. Jr.; three daughters, Laura, Sarah and Massie; two brothers, David A. of Pinckney and John H. of Brighton, and three sisters, Mrs. Kathryn Bentley and Mrs. Martha Humeckey, both of Farmington, and Mrs. W.J. Cooper of Louisville, Ky.

Working Girl Wins Post

FARMINGTON

Susan J. Sutherland of Farmington, a senior at General Motors Institute in Flint, has been elected a representative-at-large for the college's policy council, the student government organization.

Miss Sutherland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sutherland of Lee Lane Road. She is a cooperative student with Fisher Body in Warren.

Need Leaders

There are approximately 30,000 scouts who belong to the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit (most of Wayne County) – and hundreds more who would like to be members, but can't because there aren't enough leaders. Adults, both male and female, who are interested in becoming scout volunteers should contact the local scouting office.

Free Shots Available

The Oakland County Department of Health is offering free immunization shots to all children in the county from ages three months through high school.

The immunizations include either primary series or boosters for diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, poliomyelitis, measles (Rubeola) and German measles (rubella), and the tuberculin skin tests.

The shots can be obtained at the First Methodist Church of Farmington, Warner and Grand River, from 9 a.m. to noon Sept. 13 or at the South Oakland Health Department, 27725 Greenfield, Southfield from 8:30 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Health department officials said no appointment is necessary but previous immunization records should be brought.
