

Cures Dyspepsia; Trial Is Free

It is a popular mistake that only wealthy people who eat rich and highly-spiced foods suffer from dyspepsia, or, as it is also known, indigestion. The laborer in the street, the worker in the field also finds himself a victim of this disorder. Among the very greatest sufferers from it are women.

Dyspepsia is indicated by a constant feeling of lassitude, by loss of appetite and troubled sleep, by sour stomach and distended abdomen, by bad complexion and lusterless eyes.

There is no surer and speedier cure for this trouble than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which dyspepsia have been successfully treated for twenty years. This great herb-biactive compound cures Constipation, Indigestion, Flatulence, Sour Stomach, Headache, Nervousness, and all the ills that come from a disordered stomach. It is not expensive to be cured with this grand remedy, as it can be bought at any drug store in a 50-cent or $1 bottle.

Your very neighbors are probably long users of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, but if you want to know what it will do for you personally, send your name to Dr. Caldwell and he will send you a free trial bottle. He is actually anxious to have you make a test of his remedy.

Thousands of families everywhere keep it in the house against such an emergency as constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, flatulence, dyspepsia, heartburn, torpid liver, etc., which may come at any time. The family that has it is pleasant to the taste, acts gently and does not gripe. It is the great children's laxative tonic.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service.

The address is Dr. Wm. D. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Is the Farmer's Wife a Slave?

What prosperity on the average farm means to the women of the country is described by William Atherton DuPuy in a startling article on "The Useless Tragedy of the Farmer's Wife," which appears in the Delineator for June. Were the six millions of farmers' wives in the United States placed in a caldron, fused into one homogeneous mass, enough of it chopped out to make one woman—the typical farm woman—and were she depicted to the people as she is, there would be the greatest tragedy of American civilization, says Mr. DuPuy.

There is a lot to be told about this woman, and it is vital to know of her. It is she who bears the brunt of feeding the multitude for which the farmer receives so much praise. It is she who gives birth, before her vitality is sapped, to the men who make history. It is she who is martyred even in times of peace and plenty. It is a useless martyrdom, for it is easily preventable, and for this reason it is especially important that her condition and the causes of it should be known.

In the first place, you will be told that it is all bosh about the unfavorable conditions on the farm; that the farmers last year raised seven billions of dollars' worth of produce and that they have given themselves the uplift. Conditions are not at all like they used to be on the farm, you are told, for these men are now riding in automobiles and there is running water, which has been put in the house.

There is a lot of truth in some of your statements, for the farmers have made a great deal of money, and in some communities there are hundreds of conveniently arranged and ideal homes on the farms, but the consensus of opinion of the greatest authorities in this country upon farm conditions is to the effect that probably ten per cent of the farmers are grasping their opportunities for better living, in so far as the home is concerned, and that the condition of but ten per cent of the women is improved. Strange to say, with the vast majority there has come a worse condition with the development of the farm and the advent of prosperity. The Country Life Commission, appointed by the president, has traveled the country over and found this to be a fact.
