The interest rates that have been getting you down, are now going down. Local institutions have substantially lowered the interest rates on new mortgage applications. And experts anticipate the rate dropping still further. You can be sure that if it does, you'll have available to you the lowest rates available to us prior to your closing. But while interest rates are going down, the cost of housing is going un. By approximately 8%

But while interest rates are going down, the cost of housing is going up. By approximately 8% a year. So you have more incentive than ever to buy now. And have inflation working for you, instead of against you. Because you pay today's prices. And as a condominium owner you benefit from tax savings, equity build-up and all the advantages of home ownership.
