

They don't make 'em like they used to.

They don't price 'em like they used to, either.

Remember the '53 Kaiser ... the '51 Studebaker ... how about the '53 Nash Rambler ... or the 1952 Henry J?

And remember their price tags? You could buy a lot of car back then for $2,500.

Today a $2,500 price tag is as rare as a Packard Clipper. That's why we offer MemberLoan car financing at AAA—to help you pay for your new '74.

And MemberLoan finance rates can help you save a few

Hines Park Rapist Aim Of Manhunt

A rapist who has attacked couples in Hines Park and struck again Monday night in Redford's Bell Creek Park, is the object of a search by three police agencies.

Livonia and Redford police, along with the Wayne County Sheriff Dept., are hunting the man who they believed assaulted five women in Hines Park.

Sgt. Vi Mote, of Redford police, said a 23-year-old woman and her companion were approached about 9 p.m. Monday by a man wearing a ski mask and carrying a handgun.

He tied up the man, and forced the woman to a secluded area where he allegedly attacked her. She was then led back to where her male companion was. The attacker tied her hands and warned the couple he would kill them if they tried to get free.

The description of the attacker and his method of operation matched that reported by Livonia police and the sheriff.

Livonia policewoman Ann Dempsey said she received a complaint last Friday from two juveniles who said they were approached in Hines Park near Levan by a man who carried a knife and gun, tied up the boy and assaulted the girl.

Mrs. Dempsey said the girl told her the man did not put on his ski mask until he had tied her up and was leaving the area. The youths gave police a description of his face, the only one available from any of the victims.

The man is described as white, between 30 and 35 years of age, five-feet-eight to five-feet-10 inches tall, clean shaven and having short hair.

Police say the suspect never gets rough and that he always leads his female victim back to where her companion is before tying her up.
