CEA, Board To Meet On Salary Differentials

Two members of the Clarenceville school board will meet with representatives of the Clarenceville Education Association (the teachers' union) to discuss the differential in salary paid special education personnel and the winter coaching salary schedule.

Despite some misgivings on the part of several school board members, Vice President Raymond Chaiken and trustee Samuel J. Erikson will meet with CEA representatives Richard Briggs, Patricia Miller, Robert Wolf, Ted Mallares and Carolyn Bidnick. Two matters are said to have "caused major concern and unrest among the association membership."

According to Supt. David B. McDowell, "it was mutually understood by both sides that the board would discuss these two matters" if ratification of the master agreement took place.

Although the special education reimbursement is not currently included in the present contract, winter sports reimbursement is covered under the master agreement, ratified earlier in the school term.

"I've got a great deal of hesitation about opening this up," board member Robert M. Erickson declared. "I think these matters are specifically covered by the agreement."

"There was a negotiation: everyone put in a great deal of effort. At what point does it stop?" Board president Norman L. Hunt wanted to know. "The people who felt it the master agreement was unjust voted against it. But it was carried by the majority."

"I think we owe these people a consideration," trustee Thomas C. Wilson injected.

"Then we open the door to the next group," Erickson replied.

Supt. McDowell attempted to assure the board that the area of winter sports is "a unique situation" and "would not be precedent setting." The association has said it would agree to waive Article XVII so that the board will not be obligated to a past practice by re-negotiating a topic already covered under the contract.

"All we are agreeing to do is discuss," McDowell commented.

Holiday Concert Tonight At C'ville

As part of the holiday festivities, Clarenceville School District choruses will present their annual holiday concert on Wednesday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Louis E. Schmidt Auditorium.

The elementary choruses will be under the direction of Linda Park and Geraldine Rucker. The junior and senior high choruses, under the direction of Carol L. Hornung, will present songs appropriate to the Christmas and Hanukkah holidays.

Although the formal concert will begin at 7:30 p.m., the junior and senior high choruses will lead the audience in an informal Christmas carol sing-a-long beginning at 7.

There will be no admission charge for this concert, and the public may attend.

Board Sets Top Pay In Secret

After an "executive" (secret) session, the Clarenceville school board set the following administrative salaries:

Salaries for the Board of Education central office personnel, namely the superintendent, assistant superintendent, business manager and administrative assistant, were increased by 5.76 per cent. These salaries range from $22,000 to $30,500.

Salaries for principals, their assistants, the elementary school consultant and directors of special and vocational education were increased by 6.2 per cent. These salaries affect 12 persons and range from $20,244 to $26,417.

When the board convened its executive (secret) session, the public left the room.
