Their bazaar helped charity Fuel cuts danger

The Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club cer-tainly appreciates your men-tion of us in the recent Ob-server Newspapers article. The bazaar — does it build "The bazaar — does it build the treasury or the ego?" We also felt that the pine conewreath making workshop provided not only a fun-filled craft evening for the women of the area: but in addition a worth while product for those willing to do the work.

addition a worth while product for those willing to do the work.

However, our real pleasure has been when we are able to take our entire nel proceeds from the workshop and contribute them to charitable organizations. It is with organizations. It is with great satisfaction that the 40 members of our club reach this goal.

We felt that those women in the area when the workshop would like to in the area who participated in the workshop would like to take that large could like to the workshop would like to the workshop would like t

Silver didn't EDITOR: I strongly deny ever making the statement attributed to me in the Jan. 16 Observer Mexagoper's article head in the county, along with other stocial programs. I strongly deny ever making the statement attributed to me in the Jan. 16 Observer Mexagoper's article head in the county, along with other stocial programs. I mere resigned from the Human Resources Committee, although a number of months ago I did ask the chairman of the committee. I never made such a statement the lad, it would not have been a true statement of the time. I never made such a statement records of the work of the board of commissioners to relieve me of the responsibility of being charman of the committee, and the lad in the county and the proposals. I never made such a statement because the records of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to relieve me of the responsibility of being charman of the committee, and the lad the statement of the time. The records also will show that the Human Resources Committee, of which I was chairman, concurred in my recommendations and the proposals. The records also will show that the full board of commissioners will show that the full board of commissioners will not be recommendations, with one or two exceptions, in every instance. In the one or two exceptions, the board made to the proposals and the full board of commissioners and the full board of commissioners. The fact is that the appropriate committees and the full board of commistices and the full b

Not only are most of the colleges considered "commuter campuses" but a large portion of the students work part time or full time while attending classes and thus depend heavily on automobile transportation.

That's why Dr. Richard Norris, president of St. Clair Community College and chairman of the Southeastern Michigan League of Community Colleges, called a meeting between college officials last week.

Meeting at Schoolcraft College, seven college presidents and seven top level college administrators met with county and state transportation officials to discuss the problems. LOUIS J. SCHULDT, CVC Director, community rela-
