Livonia youth symphony society sets annual ball

A musical tradition will be continued Saturday, Feb. 16, when the Livonia Youth Symphony Society stages its annual ball in the Thunderbird-Hilton in Plymouth.

The social occasion will begin with a prime rib dinner at 8 p.m., and then there will be dancing to the music of a live band until 1 a.m. The cost is $25 per couple.

Originally primarily a fund-raiser for activities of the Youth Symphony, the ball now is considered more an occasion for proud parents of young musicians to get together for a social evening.

"We do have other means of raising money for the scholarships we give," said Mrs. Joan Haggard, president. "Of course, we would be delighted to earn some more scholarship money with the ball, and we hope all interested in the work of the Youth Symphony will attend."

Mrs. Otto Brey is hostess for this year's ball, and she still can accept reservations.

Mrs. Smith to display tole work

Mrs. Robert Smith of Lambertville will show her decorative containers for garden or patio Feb. 19, at 1 p.m. in St. Andrew Episcopal Church Hall, 16360 Hubbard Rd., Livonia.

Mrs. Smith is a former member and past president of the Livonia branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn.

She has concentrated on tole painting for the past five years, and has been teaching it for several years. She will have a display at the art show in the Westland Mall, March 13-17.

Egg decorating will be taught by Mrs. Carson Smith at the 10 a.m. workshop on the same day. Visitors are welcome.

Each month a different member of the club places an arrangement in the Can Sandburg Library. Mrs. John Van Lier's arrangement is now on display. It consists of elephant grass, cattails, dried cabbages, beans, cork screw, willow and flowers made from osage oranges in a green glass wine bottle.

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN JACKSON CANBY (Claudia Maye Seals)

Canbys living in Virginia

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Jackson Canby have a home in Fairfax, Va., following their recent marriage in North Farmington Baptist Church.

Mrs. Canby is the former Claudia Maye Seals, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Seals of Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Merit H. Canby of Arlington, Va., are her husband's parents.

Their marriage ceremony, officiated by the Rev. Stanley Nicol, pastor of the church, and the Rev. William Holmes of Detroit, a family friend, was written by the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an empire gown of white organza with lace and satin ribbon trim. Lace also edged her veil and she carried a nosegay of white sweetheart roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Janice Galli of Farmington was her attendant. She wore a wine taffeta dress with bodice and sleeves of antique white lace and with it a wine picture hat. Her nosegay had pink and white roses with carnations and baby's breath.

3 'fireside' topics planned by AAUW

The Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its traditional mid-winter "fireside" meetings Thursday, Feb. 14, at 8 p.m.

Three mini-meetings, each dealing with a different topic, will be held in the homes of AAUW members in the branch's geographic area.

Consolidation of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will be discussed by Fred Yockey, city manager, and Dr. Richard Gornick, township trustee, in the home of Bonnie Graham, 1150 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

Karen Mirto, 29487 Wine-sap, in Plymouth Township, will be hostess for a meeting on learning disabilities in children. The speaker will be Kathy Erdite, learning disabilities consultant for the Washtenaw County Inter-mediate school district.

Irene Piccone, an attorney with the Plymouth firm Aston and Draugelis, will be speaker for the third meeting, dealing with legal and employment discrimination against women. Before coming to Michigan, she spent considerable time working in the field of women's rights in Washington. The meeting will be in the home of Karen Whitaker, 1068 Grace Court, Northville.

Membership in the Plymouth AAUW is open to all women in the Plymouth, Canton, Northville and Livonia areas if they are graduates of an accredited college or university.

Any interested in attending one of the fireside meetings may call either the hostess or program chairman, Judy Stone, 8423 Forest, Plymouth.

Pursell speaks on gifted kids

State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) will be speaker for the meeting of the Association for the Gifted Thursday, Feb. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Middle School East, 1042 S. Mill, Plymouth.

The lawmaker will tell about the status of state appropriations for the education of gifted children.

Membership in the association is open to all interested persons. The group plans special activities for gifted children and holds adult programs on the second Thursday of each month.
