BERNARD SHAW'S EGOTISM.

Some time ago Mr. Stead in London wanted to gather about him some of the brains of Europe and some of the brains of Europe and then make a trip around the world in the interests of everthesting peace. He asked G. Bernard Shaw to be one of the party, which invitation most men would have thought a compliment, but Mr. Shaw said: "My dear Stead, I have far more work to do than kings and decons, but if you will bring a collection of rulers to my house in Adolphi Terrace I should be very glad to talk to them any morning."
