A woman from a neighboring village decided to again embark upon the sea of matrimony. She and her victim went to a justice not far from here and were quietly married. The justice in filling out the certificate forgot the date and remarked, "Let's see, this is the seventh, isn't it?" "No, sir," snapped the woman, "this is only the third, if anyone asks you."

Dated at Farmington June 3, 1909.

JOHN H. THAYER,

Village Assessor.

Found Dead at Orchard Lake.

Death claimed Walter Long of Pontiac, aged 22 years, in a peculiar manner at Orchard Lake Monday evening. He was found dead, lying on his face in the grass just back of the D. U. R. waiting room and is believed to have succumbed to an attack of heart trouble. Long resided with his parents in Pontiac and was an employee of the Rapid Motor Co. He left home early Monday evening to attend a party at Hotel Interlaken at Pine Lake. He took the eight o'clock car to the lake and was alone at the time and no one can be found who saw him after he left the car.

We Live to Learn.

Mehmed V, new sultan of Turkey, learned that graft, spies, despotism and slavery do not travel hand in hand with majestic servitude. Abdul Hamid learned it, but too late. That is why today the Ottoman empire is undergoing metamorphosis, the various stages of which furnish an entrancing story. Read it in this paper's next issue: "Rejuvenation of Turkey" by Willard W. Garrison. You will learn the inside facts of the new regime in Turkey, the ways of Mehmed, the tragic lines in Ottoman life today and the possibilities which "New Turkey" presents to Americans. Photographs taken on the streets of Turkey during the stirring scenes of revolution will furnish an elaborate pictorial balance for the article.

Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

No previous world's fair has presented the complete and finished appearance that was shown by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition when its gates were thrown open last Tuesday. Many of the larger buildings have been ready for occupancy for months and the finishing touches to the entire exposition city and grounds were applied two weeks before the formal opening.

An expenditure of $10,000,000 has reared in the heart of a dense forest of fir and cedar, a magnificent city of temporary and permanent construction, and in this is housed a collection of exhibits representing every nation of commercial importance on earth.

Last Tuesday, at high noon, President William Taft touched an electrical key of Alaskan gold which had been placed in the White House at Washington and with this signal from the chief executive of the United States the wheels of every piece of complicated machinery awoke to life, and the results of a vast expenditure of time, energy ability and money were realized.

The exhibits represent every country of importance on the globe and in addition to the old and strongly established commercial lands of Europe, a new and rapidly developing section of the earth is for the first time exploited. Alaska, Yukon, Hawaii, the Philippines and all those countries bordering on the Pacific ocean are rich in resources of art and manufacture, and it is from these lands that much of unusual interest has been gathered.

The "Pay Streak" leads through a collection of the world's most famous entertainment features, and the nations of the far east and orient are shown in villages and buildings of native design and construction.

Many states represented by individual buildings erected by the commonwealth, are cared for by club buildings built by local members of the state societies. Wisconsin and Michigan are particularly well represented among the residents of Seattle and vicinity and the visitors from these states will be well cared for by these societies. Among the special days announced by the exposition management, the 19th of July has been set for Michigan day.

The warm weather of the past few days have made the farmers smile. They are hustling to get their corn planted.

BIG CIRCUS AT DETROIT

Barnum & Bailey to Exhibit

There June 17.

The Barnum & Bailey greatest show on earth is to visit Detroit on Thursday, June 17. Never since the beginning of time has an amusement enterprise so tremendous in size been organized as this one. Its magnitude is almost beyond belief. All America, together with every foreign country has been scoured from end to end by agents of this big show in search of novelties and the result is a performance brim full of sensational acts new to the circus world. In the big Barnum & Bailey show are nearly 300 arctic stars, most of whom are seen now for the first time. A new sensation will be seen at every performance in "Jupiter, the balloon horse." This remarkable animal with its fearless rider ascends to the dome of the circus tent in a balloon and descends to the ground in a shower of fireworks.

Nearly 1,000 animal wonders are to be found in the big new cage menagerie, a herd of elephants, including one herd that actually plays upon musical instruments in time and tune. A group of giant giraffes, monster trained hippopotamus, only living bi-horned rhinoceros, and hundreds of other strange beasts. Barnum & Bailey's big, new, free street parade is the most gorgeous professional display ever attempted in the history of the circus business. Its tremendous size and wonderful length can only be believed in the actual seeing. It is natural to expect this big circus to lead all other in quality and quantity of its street spectacle as well as in other departments of the big show, yet never in its splendid history of nearly half a century has it displayed such extravagance as is shown this year.

The Time to Plant Corn.

There is a saying among old-time farmers that there is one right time to plant corn, and that is when the oak leaves are as large as a squirrel's ear. It is said never to fail, and there is a reason for it. When the ground is warm enough to drive the oak leaves that far, it is also warm enough to sprout the corn. To plant before will be more miss than hit, and to plant later will not give it time to mature. Observe the oak leaves.

IT DEPENDS.

The red-haired girl's face wore a worried look as she joined her luncheon cronies at table.

"I can't order much for luncheon to-day," she announced; "I've just lost some money."

"Much?" asked a sympathetic neighbor.

"Two dollars."

"Humph! I don't call that much," remarked the office manager who draws $25 a week.

The red-haired girl looked at her a moment. "Oh! no," she said, "I was going to throw it in the street any way."

THE TALLEST ACTRESS.

This distinction belongs to Miss Irene Smith, who plays La Robe Ray in the new Drury Lane drama. She stands 6 feet 11 1/2 inches in her stockings.

It seems somewhat incongruous that she should wear high heels, her hair brushed high over a pad and a high cut to give a greater impression of height. That is, however, what she does, so as to realize the description of being six feet four inches in height in accordance with the design of the authors.—Tit-Bits.
