

Volunteers

This column describing volunteer needs in Oakland County is co-sponsored by the Junior League of Birmingham and the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau.

HANDICAPPED: The Easter Seal Society needs volunteers to work at its branch at 400 East Nine Mile Road, Ferndale, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays, through June 15. Arts and crafts experience is desirable but not necessary to help with the arts and crafts program for physically handicapped adults.

HOSPITAL: Oakland County Hospital, 2200 N. Telegraph in the Oakland County complex, Pontiac, needs volunteers to help transport patients to and from therapy; to help with feeding and writing letters for patients; to arrange donated fresh flowers; to help administer, staff and do publicity for the gift shop and to be members of the new hospital auxiliary. Volunteers are also needed to help with bingo parties, informal singing, entertainment and social activities. Volunteers may work a three or four hour shift once or twice a week. Most shifts are in the morning. One orientation session is held followed by on-the-job training.

SCHOOLS: AIDE, 6255 Telegraph, Birmingham, needs volunteers to help classroom teachers in the Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills school districts with curriculum enrichment. Volunteers are needed from the fields of American history, government, foreign travel slides and lectures, needlecraft, creative writing, drama, photography, camping, plant and animal life, craft projects, career opportunities, health and related subjects, retailing, anthropology and archeology.

TEENS: U-TURN, 2636 Franklin Road, Bloomfield Hills, needs volunteers for clerical, fund-raising and committee work. Office hours at the organization which provides help to teen-agers with drug and behavior problems are 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Speech clinicians slate workshop

Michigan Speech Pathologists in Clinical Practice announces its Fourth Annual Workshop "Brain Dysfunction in the Language Impaired: diagnosis and Treatment."

The workshop will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 6 at the Holiday Inn, 26555 Telegraph Road, Southfield.

The group is a statewide organization of speech and language pathologists and audiologists in clinics and hospitals.

Featured speakers include: Melvin Schwartz, Ph.D., a Harper Hospital neuropsychologist; and Fran Eldis, M.A. Director of Communication Disorders at Children's Hospital.

They will illustrate the interdependence of Neuropsychology and speech pathology in assessment and management of specific language disorders.

Their emphasis on a clinical approach to the language impaired should be of interest to educators, psychologists and language and learning specialists.

For further information, call Gayle Burstein at M. Carmel Mercy Hospital.

Association plans lecture

This season's final Detroit Symphony Lecture/Open Rehearsal will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Ford Auditorium under the auspices of the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Music from the Thursday and Friday evening concerts will be rehearsed by Principal Conductor Aldo Ceccato and the orchestra beginning at 2 p.m. Rehearsal visitors will hear guest artist Michele Campanella, who will be preparing for his debut concerts with the orchestra.

At 1 p.m. Mrs. Robert Kaiser, noted music authority, will discuss the afternoon's music.

Tickets are available at Ford Auditorium box office, 961-0700.

Program features science

The science staff of Oakland Community College's (OCC) Highland Lakes Campus will host a program titled, "Any Woman Can Enjoy Science," from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thurs. (April 4).

Events include opportunities to meet with OCC science faculty, women who earn their living in science areas, women whose hobbies are in science and women students who are currently enrolled in science courses.

The keynote speaker will be Eleanor Driver of the Oakland University Continuum Center, Rochester, who will speak on "Every Woman Can."

ACCORDING to members of OCC's science staff, women work as scientists every day whether they know it or not. Women use chemicals for cleaning, use the principles of physics for cooking, feed their families most of the organs of plants and animals and many are worried about the preservation of a healthy environment for themselves and their family.

Hobbies that involve science include bird watching, rock collecting, creative cooking, indoor and outdoor gardening and wildflower and herb gathering.

The program is open to community members. There is an admission fee. Lunch will be available in the Student/Community Center cafeteria.

For further information call 363-7191, ext. 273 or 310.
