

Falcons rally for win

Rochester's softball team scored seven times in the seventh inning for an 18-17 victory over Madison Tuesday at Madison, breaking a three-game losing streak.

The game also broke a three-game string of rainouts as the Falcons had canceled contests against Clawson, Utica and Avondale and had not played since April 30.

ROCHESTER IS now 2-3 this spring, playing Lake Orion at 4 p.m. Thursday (May 16) at Rochester and at Clarkston at 4 p.m. Friday.

Denise Corley tripled home one run and Sue Cichowski tripled home two more in Rochester's rally.

Cheryl Poet's single plated Sue Cichowski.

Rochester also got a solo home run from Leslie Dobat leading off the sixth inning.

SUE ZOLLIKER lead Rochester's offense with four hits, two runs batted in, and four runs scored. Beth Stefani batted in three runs and scored twice on two hits. Denise Corley, Laurie Wilson, Leslie Dobat, Nancy Dobat and Cheryl Poet each had two hits, and Sue Cichowski and Gert Ann Toski had one apiece.

Miss Corley, Nancy and Leslie Dobat and Miss Poet each came in twice.

4 homers not enough for Jackets

Avondale girls hammered four home runs but still lost their Oakland A League softball game to Oxford Tuesday, 14-13.

Avondale trailed by as much as 13-3, but rallied for seven runs in the seventh inning.

Cheryl Bolton, Ruth Johnson, Chris Colfer and Stephanie Sanger each had homers in the Yellow Jacket assault Tuesday.

MISS BOLTON had three hits and Miss Johnson and Miss Colfer had four apiece.

The loss dropped Avondale's season record to 5-3 after an 11-7 victory over Romeo Friday.

Ruth Johnson, Margie Coffelt and Chris Colfer each slugged a home run off Bulldog pitching.

The Yellow Jackets play at Madison at 4 p.m. Thursday (May 16).

Adams softballers finally win game

The Adams softball team won its first game of the season in a comeback 5-4 win over Bloomfield Hills Lahser Tuesday at Adams.

The Highlanders got consecutive singles from Diane O'Dowd, Mary Ann Hopp, Janice Lemmer, Carol Belanger and Karen Escott to score two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to win the game.

Adams had a 3-1 lead until Lahser scored three runs in the fourth inning to go ahead.

THEN DIANE O'Dowd came in relief to pitch for Adams. She allowed no runs and only three hits in the final four innings.

Carol Holzsch, Karen Escott, Carol Belanger, Mary Ann Hopp and Diane O'Dowd each had two hits in the game. Adams had no extra base hits.

The Highlanders are now 1-5 for the season, playing at Birmingham Groves Thursday (May 16). They'll make up a game with Utica Eisenhower at Adams Monday.

2 Rochester riders earn first places

Two Rochester equestrians earned first place awards last weekend in the Michigan Horse Show Association spring show at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

Janet Poppes, of 30 Arrowdale, took a first place on Lady's Beaver in American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) Western pleasure, amateur rider, English pleasure, hunt seat, and four-years-and-older gelding classes.

Cheryl Adamski, 2831 Walbridge, was first on Jaguar Jack in AQHA English pleasure, and hunt seat classes for riders age 18-and-under.

RIDING ZANDER Duffield's Step Ahead, Rick Dayner, 180 Mead Road, earned a third place in first year green working hunters.

Lorrie Howard, 870 Darien Circle, was third in junior working hunter, rider under 14, and fourth in open equitation. Janet Allen, 1612 Shagbark, rode her horse Pine Row Tammy in the AQHA youth, English pleasure, and hunter seat classes. Clarice Carrio, 1079 King View Court, entered Rock-a-Bye-Chu Bob in AQHA English pleasure, hunt seat and western pleasure for riders ages 14-18 years.

ON VIS COUNCIL, Ann Johnston, 177 Cedarwald Court, rode in first year green working hunter and first year green working hunter under saddle competition. Rebecca Terry, 144 Glendale, on Fomir's Electron, rode in first year green working hunter and first year green working hunter under saddle.

Joseph F. Kosik Jr., 5350 Brewster Road, and Chris Mapham, 1700 Washington Road, also participated in the show last weekend.

The show continues Friday through Sunday with Arabians, half Arabians and Morgans competing. Showtime each evening is 8 p.m., with no admission charge except the $1 parking fee.

Dragons humble Avondale

Avondale's girls track team won only two events in a 67-24 humbling at Lake Orion Monday night. But the Yellow Jackets were hurt in the absence of two of their top sprinters in Peta Newnham, with a leg cramp, and Sarah Igleheart, who was ill. It was the worst loss this year for Avondale, now 0-3 for the season. The Jackets run in the girls regional track meet Friday night at Andover Bay High School.

BETTY MARTUS won the half-mile in 3:14, one of her slower times, and Karen McCruden was first in the mile in 6:53, also slower than she's gone this year.

Avondale got second and third in the high jump as both Joann Mehney and Lisa Longtin cleared 4-2. Miss Mehney was second on the basis of fewer misses.

Avondale also got a second in the shot put from Rene Asbell, who made 23-3. The Dragons swept the long jump points.

BERNIE SKUBICK placed second in the 80-yard hurdles in 13.5 seconds, Andrea Call was second in the 440-yard dash in 1:15.6 and Lisa Longtin took third in the 220 in 30.5 seconds. Lake Orion also won both relays and swept the three places in the 100. The Dragons had only beaten Avondale in the team's first meeting, 48-43, by winning the final event.

U.S. Open qualifying held at Great Oaks

Two local players will be among the 162 in the local qualifying tournament Monday at Great Oaks Country Club for the U.S. Open golf tournament.

Stan Lendzion, the defending club champion at Great Oaks, and David Zink of Rochester, who plays out of Indianwood Golf and Country Club, are among the 50 amateurs in the round.

There are also 112 professional golfers playing, including Jim Dewling, the managing director at Great Oaks.

ALL AMATEUR entrants have registered handicaps of two or less.

The local competition includes two 18-hole rounds, at Great Oaks and at Indianwood. Great Oaks will serve as the host of the master scoreboard and luncheon there.

From the field of 162, only 19 players will advance to the sectional tournament June 3 at Franklin Hills. A playoff will be held at 8:30 p.m. Monday at Great Oaks to settle the final spots in case of ties.

Club member ties for pro-am first

Professional golfer Ben Davis and amateur Ken VanEtten tied for Carl Patron and Great Oaks Country Club's Dick Karolak for low score in Monday's pro-am tournament at Great Oaks.

Both pairs had 64s, earning each player $151.20 in the best ball event. The tourney was in conjunction with National Golf Day, which helps raise money for golf charities and scholarships.

Pro Glen Stuart and Chuck Seed of Great Oaks tied two other pairs with 65, including Patron and Tony DeMartini and pro John Williams and Ed Mills. They earned $86.40 each.

Seven teams tied with 66s.

IN THE PRO-PRO competition,

Patron and Ken Sprochi fired a 67 for first, earning $87.60 apiece. Ray Bolo and Walt Kerchinski shot 68 for $85.70 each, and five teams with 70s had $43.80 per player.

They were Joe Reid and Butch Van Beverlys, Tom Horton and Doug Erb, John Erb, John Williams and Fred George, Ted Kondratko and James Blugerman, and Tom Deaton and Dave Christiansens.

Bolo's 69 was the best single round among the professionals, with Patron next on a 70. Stuart shot 73, and Jim St. Germain, Horton, John Williams and Chris Williams all had 74s.
