New Optometry Law.

A new law to provide for the examination, regulation, licensing and registration of optometrists is of interest to many and the following synopsis will explain a few points of the law:

Five electors of the state are to be appointed before November 1, 1909, by the governor, which will constitute a board of examiners in optometry. These examiners must be people who have been practicing optometry for at least five years. The names of these people are to be furnished the governor by the Michigan Society of Optometrists, at least three times as many names as are to be appointed, and he must select the five from the list. Certain classes of optometrists are barred from being on the board.

After January 1, 1910, all men and women engaged in the practice of optometry or who wish to begin the practice of the same in this state, shall make application to this board to be registered and for a certificate of said registration. These certificates are to be granted under certain restrictions and the registration fee is $5.

From and after May 1, 1910, any applicant for registration under this act shall be required to pass an examination. The act provides for certain qualifications, such as being possessed of an education equal to two years' high school course, he shall have been employed in the office of an optometrist registered under this act, as an assistant, for a period of not less than two years, or shall be a graduate of an optical school or college approved by the board. The examination fee is $15, and $5 for registration.

Provisions are made in the law for dishonest conduct, unprofessionalism, druggards, etc., when proven in a court of competent jurisdiction.

The practice of optometry is defined to be the employment of any means other than the use of drugs for the measurement of the powers of vision and the determination of the accommodative and refractive states of the eye and the scope of its functions in general and the adoption of lenses and frames for the aid thereof. The provisions of this act do not apply to physicians and surgeons who are duly licensed.

Punishment is provided for violation of this act.
