Employes can do more with calm attitudes

By DR. MAURICE ELVEKROG
A foreman in a local plant expressed a great deal of concern about the situation he had to work in. He felt the union attitudes were petty and unnecessarily inpleasant, and that management in turn seemed to show very little understanding of his position and problems. I knew that the situation in the plant was indeed complicated and far from perfect.
I expressed to the foreman the ideg that he may not be in an ideal situation, but that there still was no need for him to upset himself about it. I told him that upsetting

Q. It really bugs me when I fill out my income tax and have to pay a tax on dividends I have received. From the annual reports I get from corporations, it's plain to see they have already paid a very large tax — about 50 percent — on earnings. It seems that when the government has already taken so much of the profit, our dividends should be tax free. Init' there something we can do to get the government to quit taxing dividents twice?

Management Psychologist

It was very surprised when I returned a week later to see how the foreman was coming along. He was quite emotional and told me, "The plant manager says he didn't believe what you had said I should do the said that it that's the way I have the said that it that's the way I have the said that it that's the way I believe what you had said I should do the was quite emotional and told me, was quite emotional and told me, and the said that it that's the way I have the said that it that's the way I believe what you had said I should do the was quite emotional and told me, was the said that it that's the way I believe what you had said I should do the was quite emotional and told me, and the said that it that's the way I believe what you had said I should just whether anything was petiding accomplished or not. divident income to be tax free. I imagine the most effective thing that could be done would be for yourself and millions of other shareholders to write your senators and representatives and express your feelings on this subject. The New York Stock Exchange has proposed that the present dividend exclusion be increased to $400. You could write your Washington representatives and support that principle.

club? I have belonged to a club for 11 years and would like to have some of my earnings out, but some of our members feel you should ei-ther not draw out anything or draw out everything.

A. Any member of an invest-ment club should be able to draw out any part of his share at any time.

The "Investment Club Manual" of the National Association of Investment Clubs suggests this procedure. In most cases, a withdrawal from an investment club is up to the individual member. Sometimes clubs will decide to distribute a part of the club to all of the members, but that is an infrequent procedure.

In today's mail, I had a letter from a large investment club in Memphis, Tenn. When the club passed the $300,000 mark, the members decided to return $75,000 to themselves. Since the members had only invested $83,000 in the club, the distribution tied down a substantial profit for the members.

Q. When I turned in my tax return, I had to pay a tax on a $4,000 profit on a stock I sold which I had held for Is years. In that period of time, prices have increased a great deal, and while I could have bought two small cars with that money then, I can barely buy one today. It doesn't seem fair that small investors like myself should have to pay a capital gainst tax when we've held a stock for a long time and so much of the gain is just inflation. Isn't there something I can do to get out of that tax!

of that tax? |

1. I don't know any way you can get out of paying capital gains takes, but you may be able to help change the law. Many legislators are beginning to recognize that inflation has really made the capital giansiax a double tax and are considering proposals to ease its effect, particularly on small investors. For a long time our legislators seemed to feel that the capital gains tax only applied to some of the very wealthy people in the country, actually, there are over-30 million individual investion the country, and most of them are not tremendously rich.

Willbur Mills chairman of the Wilbur Mills chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, has been considering including a provision in the tax laws which would exempt from taxation an individual's first $1,000 of capital gains each year. If you'd like to see such a change, you should write to him and tell him so.

we have the image that the only way to get things done is by rant-ing or raving. Maybe as our society matures, people will learn to treat both themselves and others in a calm, rational, pleasant way. Very little sign of it so far, though.

What do riding boots and lamps have in common? Quite a bit according to Elmer Blan-non and Sam Kohen, who own the unique Lamp Shack in the West Bloomfield Plaza on Orchard Lake Road

Bloomled Plaza on Orchard Lake Road.

Sam and elmer specialize in creat-ing unusual lighting fixtures from common (and sometimes uncommoni) items; so they didn't blink an eye when they were asked recently to con-wett a pair of rading boots into a func-tional lamp.

The boots, a longtime possession of an equestrian loving family, had been passed down through two generations and would not fit anyone in the present family.

Rather than discard them the boots were brought to Sam and Elmer, and the family now has an heirloom not only attractive but functional as well.

The Lamp Shack owners are proud of their finished work, they recognize the objects they convert into lamps or fixtures are inherently unique and have a character that should be retained.

"Each article," says Elmer, "has a due we try to keep intact by alter-g the original item as little as posing the original item as little as pos-sible when making it into a lighting Piece."

Now lighting someone's home are such unusual pieces as a sextant lamp, ship lanterns more than a century old, and a bottle lamp fashioned from a wine counoiseur's containers.
