

ROOM WITH MANY uses—dining room, study area, den etc.—can be executed by anyone who has a space squeeze. All that is required is organization and planning plus some functional wall systems and adaptable furniture.

Safety standards sought

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission soon will seek outside help in developing safety standards for power lawnmowers and lawn and garden tractors.

In a notice in the Federal Register, the commission will initiate proceedings for the development of mandatory federal safety regulations by inviting outside parties to offer to develop standards or to submit any existing standards for consideration.

According to commission injury reports, power lawnmowers and garden tractors were associated with an estimated 60,500 injuries requiring hospital emergency room care between July 1, 1972, and June 30, 1973.

IN-DEPTH investigations of accidents reveal that serious injuries have resulted from operator contact with the rotating blade, objects propelled by the mower blades, mower instability—rolling, slipping or overturning, failure of the power mower brakes or steering mechanisms, contact with exposed heated surfaces, and fires caused by spillage of liquid fuels used for mowers.

Other serious injuries have been associated with electric shock from electric mowers or electric power sources and from exposure to excessive noise.

The commission's decision that a standard was needed to reduce or eliminate injury came in response to the hazards revealed by injury data and to a petition requesting commission action.

In August of 1973 the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI) petitioned the commission to develop consumer product safety rules for power mowers and to adopt a voluntary industry standard issued by the American National Standards Institute. The commission granted the first request but did not accept the voluntary standard as a proposed consumer product safety rule.

REGARDLESS of who is chosen, standards development activities must be open to the participation of interested parties, including consumers, consumer organizations, representatives of industry, government and the scientific and academic communities.

Sun Fun POOLS, inc

With the fuel shortage why not have your own private lake in your back yard?
SAVE FUEL-BUY A POOL.
We can design a pool of any size or shape to fit your needs.

For years people have been saying "Wouldn't it be wonderful to swim all year, not just when the sun shines and it's in the 80s?" We have now found the way to swim 365 days a year with no chilly evenings to send you in before your swimming desires are satisfied. Sun Fun Pool enclosure is the way to assure yourself of year-round swimming enjoyment.

Pool and enclosures on display at our office.

May we suggest to pool owners that you buy your chemicals early as there is sure to be a shortage of chlorine this year.
