Dental program guidelines set

By BARBARA UNDERWOOD
Guidelines for dental assisting programs for secondary and post-secondary school programs have been developed and issued in booklet form by the Dental Vocational Advisory Committee (DVAC) and the Oakland County Dental Society.

The booklet serves a dual purpose, according to Dr. Walter Crowson of Birmingham, chairman of the DVAC.

land County educators with the new guidelines.

THE DENTAL society. Oakland Schools (intermediate district) and the State Board of Education cooperated on the project.

"It is unique," Dr. Crowson said. "It is probably the first time the dental society has participated with educators in establishing a program. They have been consultants before but have been actual participants this time."

The manual will allow school districts to start from scratch in establishing a dental assisting program, Dr. Crowson said.

"Any state high school wanting a dental assisting program can use these guidelines," he explained.

The program has been accepted by the secondary unit of the Michigan Department of Education, Dr. Crowson said.

A NUMBER of school districts in the county have expressed interest in establishing such a program. West Bloomfield presently offers a cooperative program in dental assisting.

Individual school districts wanting such a program must petition the State Board of Education by Jan. 1

O.U. sets 2 panels

Two questions of importance to the American people, justice and role of the media in society, will be discussed by panels of experts at Oakland University's 15th birthday open house Sunday (Sept. 29).

The programs are among more than 200 free events offered during the 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. open house. Complete schedule information may be obtained by calling 377-4700.

The first panel discussion is entitled "What is Wrong With American Justice?" Members are Judge Victor Baum of the 3rd District Court; Oakland County Prosecutor

Girl freed by abductor

BIRMINGHAM — Police are seeking the abductor of a 10-year-old Birmingham girl.

The girl, who police would not identify, was abducted between 7 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. Saturday from her home and released unharmed about 9 a.m. in the Davisburg area in northern Oakland County.

The girl described her abductor as a white male, about 20 years old. She said he was six feet one inch tall and weighed about 195 pounds.

He had brownish-red collar-and include the costs of projected 1975-76 budgets, Dr. Crowson said.

Dental assistant training programs are eligible for added cost funding by the state at the rate of $72 per student hour per week, Dr. Crowson explained.

The guidelines also are applicable to dental assisting programs currently offered at vocational education centers in the county.

More students want to take the course than the vocational education centers can accommodate, Dr. Crowson said, and there is a need for many more dental assistants than there are students currently taking the training.

UNITED AUTO UAW contract provisions which give expanded coverage for workers will take effect Oct. 1 and are expected to overload the supply of dental services available, Dr. Crowson pointed out.

He cited statistics from the American Dental Association Journal of several years ago which at that time said if every dentist in the country were to practice 24 hours a day with no additional dental problems than existed, it would take 100 years to catch up with the dental needs in the United States alone.

L. Brooks Patterson; James Bannon, commander of the Detroit Police Department; attorneys Sheldon Adler and Martin Doctoroff; and Jesse R. Pitts, sociology professor. The program will be presented from 1-3 p.m., at 173 South Foundation Hall.

The second panel asks "Are We Being Brainwashed by the Mass Media?" and features Jim Magruder, managing editor of the Oakland Press, O.U. sociology professors Edward Slawski and Pitts, and journalism professor William White. The discussion will be held from 4-6 p.m. at 205 Varner Hall.

The stripes are in marvelous color combinations: green/light blue/rust, brown/light blue/gold, blue/light green/peach — all on white grounds. The fabric's a well-behaved, permanently-pressed oxfordcloth blended of polyester/cotton.
