

Lunch with Dear Abby to benefit academy

A "Luncheon with Dear Abby" has been scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 14, at the Raleigh House in Southfield for the 18th annual benefit program for the development fund of the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills.

The luncheon, open to the public, will replace "Hemlines and Horsepower" which benefited the school's development fund in former years. Mrs. James Tomlinson is general chairman of this event.

Abigail Van Buren, who is "Dear Abby" to millions, is known throughout the world for her advice to problem-ridden readers of her column, "Dear Abby."

In addition to her six-day-a-week column, Abby fills speaking engagements, appears on television and radio (she has a Monday-through-Saturday radio program on CBS), and has written three best-sellers, "Dear Abby" and "Dear Teen-Ager" have been translated into Japanese, Dutch, Danish, German and Italian. Her latest is "Dear Abby on Marriage."

ACADEMY OF the Sacred Heart is an independent Catholic school for girls at 1250 Kensington Road, Bloomfield Hills, operated by the Society of the Sacred Heart. It accepts children of all faiths and economic backgrounds and offers financial aid to needy gifted children.

The Development Fund enables the school to continue the financial aid program. It also provides athletic and recreational facilities and allows the school to develop special educational programs with emphasis on world studies.

The world studies program includes a student exchange in 22 countries with other schools operated by the Society of the Sacred Heart.

Ticket information may be had by calling 646-8900.
