

Plymouth man heads division

Robert A. Jacobson of Plymouth is the recently appointed manager of the Detroit district of Servomation Corp., North Central Division.

He is in charge of the company's new five-acre Romulus operating center which includes a commissary, warehouse, maintenance department and offices. The center replaces a facility in Ypsilanti.

Servomation, one of the nation's largest food and refreshment service organizations, provides both vended and manual food services in 41 states and Canada.

Before heading the Detroit district, Jacobson had served as general manager of Servomation's Moline district in Illinois. Earlier he had been an operations manager in the Northern Illinois area.

RONALD S. LJOWSKI of Huff Street, Livonia, has been promoted to vice president at Harlan Electric Company, Southfield. He will be one of four divisional managers responsible for construction projects and other customer services. A 12-year resident of Livonia, he has been with Harlan for 14 years, serving successively as draftsman, estimator, contract manager and acting divisional manager.

Compensation booklet offered

A new guide to workmen's compensation benefits has just been published by the Michigan Department of Labor.

The "Guide to Workmen's Compensation Benefits," written in easy to understand question and answer form, is available free of charge by writing to the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, 300 E. Michigan Ave., Lansing, Mich. 48906.

According to Ernest C. Fackler, director of the bureau, the pamphlet represents several months of work by more than 30 leaders in Michigan industry and labor.

"AMONG THOSE who worked on this brochure, the first in 10 years, were members of the United Auto Workers, several insurance companies, the Michigan Self-Insurers Association, Workmen's Compensation Lawyers Council and the Workmen's Compensation section of the State Bar," Fackler said.

Michigan's program covers 3.9 million workers and paid out $257 million in benefits last year, Fackler reported.

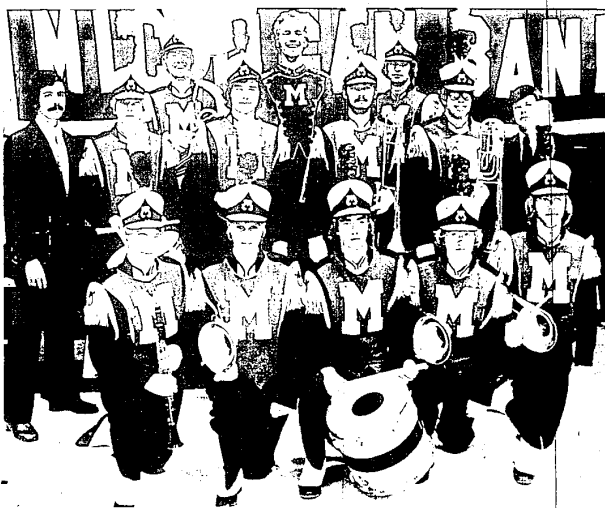

HERMAN G. DUERR of Livonia, art director of FRIENDS magazine, recently spoke on "The Editor and Art Director Partnership" at a luncheon ending the 35th annual conference and short-course in yearbook production sponsored by Columbia University in New York City. He has been art director of FRIENDS since 1967. The magazine is sent by dealers to Chevrolet customers.

U-M staffers keep busy

Among the faculty and staff of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, who are involved in projects in addition to their campus responsibilities are William Agresti of Westland and Virginia Lewis of Livonia.

Agresti, assistant professor of industrial and systems engineering recently presented a paper on "Nonserial Dynamic Programming" at the 45th joint national meeting of the Operations Research Society of America and the Institute of Management Sciences in Boston.

Virginia Lewis, administrative associate, College of Arts, Sciences, and Letters, will attend the national conference on "Field Experience Education: Strategies and Tactics," in Atlanta, Ga. this month.

Marching for the Big Blue
