Ready for the boutique

The perky clown, at left, has a wire frame so he can be twisted into any pixie-ish shape of your fancy. He'll go up for sale Wednesday, Dec. 4, with sprays of calico flowers, snowmen to decorate tables or mantelpieces and hundreds of other handcrafted items. It's all part of the Christmas boutique and card party sponsored by the Women of the North Farmington which will run noon-4 p.m. in Our Lady of Sorrows Social Hall, with a variety of desserts and coffee. Reservations must be in by Nov. 30 and may be made by calling Mary Bertsch. (Ever Photos)

Woodwinds in concert

The Detroit Woodwind Chamber Players will perform at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 27, in the Birmingham Temple, 28611 W. Twelve Mile Road, Farmington Hills.

All members of the ensemble play with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. They are: Shaul Ben-Meir, flute; Douglas Cornelson, clarinet; Phillip Austin, Bassoon; and Muriel Kilby, piano.

Haight-Mitchell

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Haight of West Bloomfield announce the engagement of their daughter, Melissa Ann, to David Ives Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley I. Mitchell of Farmington Hills.

Miss Haight and her fiancé are both graduates of North Farmington High School. She is now employed at Fretter Appliance. He is a self-employed carpet mechanic.

A late May wedding is planned.

Daly-Levin

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Daly of Farmington Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Laraine Ann, to David H. Levin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Levin of Huntington Woods.

Miss Daly is a graduate of North Farmington High School and is attending Michigan State University.

Her fiancé is employed by Ford Tractor Operations and is doing graduate work at the University of Michigan.

Services set on Fridays

Adat Shalom Synagogue will initiate a series of monthly Friday Evening Worship Services beginning at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Rabbi Jacob E. Segal will speak on "Israel's Mood now: A Personal Report." Rabbi Segal has recently returned from a three-week pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Rabbi Seymour Rosenbloom and Cantor Nicholas Penakel will officiate at the service.

In developing this series of services, the Ritual Committee of Adat

Shalom is striving to involve and encourage the attendance of families who find it difficult to attend the Shabbat morning service. The service will last approximately one hour and 15 minutes and will be followed by an Oneg Shabbat Kiddush (social hour).

The service will be in "family-style" and parents may bring their youngsters.

The community at large may participate.

Human Rights Day observed in series

"The Right to be Generous" is the first of a series by Rabbi Sherwin Wine Friday. The lectures will all begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Birmingham Temple, 28611 W. Twelve Mile Road, Farmington.

"Human Rights Day, which is the anniversary of the proclamation of the Declaration of Human Rights, will be celebrated on Dec. 10," Rabbi Wine said "For most people, rights refer to the obligation of the community to grant individuals certain freedoms, and opportunities."

"However, the other side is equally important, even though less widely stressed. Human rights also refer to the right of the human community to demand certain standards of performance from individuals. "Every person ought not to betray his potential for beauty, usefulness and effectiveness."
