

Junior Symphony performance set

The 80 young people from the Southfield Junior Symphony are rehearsing for their fall concert to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Southfield High School auditorium.

The program will also feature the Northern Choral of North Farmington High School under the direction of George Still.

Sibelius' Symphony No. 1 and "Overture to Semiramide by Rossini" will be played.

The orchestra will also accompany the choral in a rendering of Faure's Requiem Mass.

THE JUNIOR Symphony is composed of talented junior and senior high school students from Southfield and other Oakland County communities.

Rehearsals are from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday nights at Southfield High under the direction of Richard Brown, instrumental music teacher with the Southfield Public Schools.

Monies received from patron donations, door receipts and profits from a holiday bake sale held at the November concert are used to support this scholarship program.

Woman's Club sets benefit

A special performance of The Village Players production of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" will be given for the Birmingham Woman's Club Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The benefit price will include the show ticket and an afterglow. The proceeds will go to aid the club's philanthropic endeavors. Ticket information may be obtained through Mrs. Richard Mikesell or Mrs. Lyn Chokoi.

'Poet' loses to 'Salesman'

Arthur Miller's monumental drama, "Death of A Salesman," will be the Jan. 2 through 26 production at Meadow Brook Theatre, according to David Robert Kanter, Managing Director of the Theatre.

It will replace the previously scheduled "A Touch of the Poet" by Eugene O'Neill.

Negotiations are under way at the present time to present Booth Colman in the featured role of Willy Loman, pending the availability of Colman, now taping the television series, "Planet of the Apes."

Colman won critical acclaim for two previous performances at Meadowbrook Theatre in "Inherit the Wind" and "The Andersonville Trial."
