BY STRAHAN... In the 1800's, having taken over Ceylon in the previous century, the British began the development of their fabulous tea plantations. Many wives, with their hearts still in England, decorated with fabrics reminiscent of the "old country." And, from this era came the motifs in this delectable fruit and floral stripe named "Ceylon".
This is just one of thirty-eight new wallcoverings from the 88th Anniversary Collection by Thomas Strahan Company. The entire collection is vinyl-acrylic coated and scrubbable, many of the wallcoverings have correlated fabrics. The 88th Anniversary Collection, as well as hundreds of other designs are presented in full sample rolls at our Birmingham showroom. Stop in and visit us soon.
