

'Goodbye Charlie' next for the players

The Farmington Players are now in rehearsal for the George Axelrod farce, "Goodbye Charlie," set to open April 23.

It will be the players' 61st production, directed by Bill Salisbury and produced by Dale Johnson.

The six member cast includes Bob Stewart, Bob Gregory, Karen Gregory, Ralph Evert, Joanne Vancil and Jan Salisbury.

The play centers around Charlie, who is devoted. Charlie's contribution to the world was that he had been a demon lover, a superb connoisseur of wines and the possessor of a fine backhand.

Charlie returns to earth as a girl and he has trouble changing his personality to female.

THE PLAY will run for three consecutive weekends in the Players Barn, on Twelve Mile, between Orchard Lake and Farmington Road. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. on Thursdays, Friday and Saturdays, and at 7:30 p.m. on Sundays.

A special benefit performance for the Farmington Community Center will be given on Sunday, April 27.

The benefit will be followed by a champagne and hors d'oeuvres afterglow in the center when theatergoers may meet the cast members. Tickets for this performance are available at the center.

All other tickets are available through Dolores Shevin, 36175 Locust Drive, Farmington.

On with the dance

Kris and Vicky Jankus have joined "Gateways to the World," the ethnic festival coming to the Farmington Community Center May 31-June 1. The girls will represent the American-Lithuanian community, Silaine, bringing authentic music, dance and costume to the weekend celebration. They study dance with Galina Gobis, the same woman who taught their mother over 25 years ago. They live at 80040 Lochmoor in Farmington Hills and attend North Farmington High School.

Hoehner-Vautaw

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Hoehner of Farmington Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Lisa Beth, to Brian Lee Vautaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Vautaw of Columbus, Ind.
