Art show on the way

Members of the Farmington Artist Club will hold their next annual spring exhibit and sale from Friday through Sunday, May 24 in the Farmington Community Library on Twelve Mile Road. Show hours are from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 12 noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The exhibit will consist of two galleries: one juried with awards, and one open. Both will feature a wide variety of style and techniques created by club members, many of whom are prominent local artists.

The Farmington club, now in its 12th year, has about 120 members, and boasts a fine degree of talent and originality.

THE EXHIBIT will also include an unframed art department, where original paintings will be available for $25 and under.

Admission is free, and guests are asked to submit their choice in the club's "most popular painting poll."

Six framed paintings have now been donated by members for a public raffle, to be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday afternoon of the show. Tickets will be on sale during show hours.

Judges for the show are Kathy Hesterton and Leslie Masters.

MS. HEATHERTON is a painting consultant for Walled Lake public schools and a past director of Pontiac Creative Arts Center. Ms. Masters is a painting instructor at the Birmingham-Bloomfield Arts Association.

Some of the club's award winners from last year who will be exhibiting again this spring are Eder Joppich, Patricia Kilbourn, Lilian Korilla, W.C. Lassen, Alice Nichols, Kathleen Pinski and Billie Thompson.

Exclusive cluster homes in cosmopolitan Bloomfield Hills carry $100,000 price tags.

Posh Environment Limited to the Affluent

Woodlands: Connoisseur's Choice!

Picture this... an intimate private-sized bathroom, a sophisticated master bedroom, a walk-in pantry in your gourmet kitchen... Now, isn't it a shame that the builders and developers of Woodlands are making these posh refinements available to only 50 families? When I encountered Woodlands on Gilbert Lake, an exclusive cluster home community in the condominium concept, I was overwhelmed with the quality of workmanship and respect for the affluent lifestyle.

Imagine crossing the threshold on your two-story Woodlands' residence to be greeted with a spiral staircase with a curved wooden handrail and handcrafted balustrades. The builders Snyder & Snyder have built in the Bloomfield Hills area for more than two decades. Speaking of elegance, the Woodlands' bathroom is a polished showplace: in one of the master bedroom baths, a glass stall shower with three adjustable shower heads is adjacent to a bathtub, where you can recline and still reach the faucet and soap dish. Dressing area with its impressive custom vanity, and bathing area are each privately zoned for an intimate bathroom experience. If your entertainment calendar is a busy one — you'll love to party in the Woodlands' ranch home. Guests will delight in the spacious split-level living room that drops at one end into a cozy conversation pit — just a sampling of the novel custom options available at Woodlands. Not only is living at Woodlands exclusively posh, it's privately secure.

Your Woodlands' gatehouse is manned day and night, in addition to having a closed circuit TV system linking every home to the gatehouse and other areas in Woodlands. A fire detection unit, installed in each home, connects your ranch or two-story home to the gate house and local fire department. Why not see Woodlands first-hand; enjoy its private, timbered acreage, and view the elegant models. And, if you are one of the few able to afford Woodlands' opulent lifestyle — you'll be utterly charmed!

Access to Woodlands is by quiet Timberlake Drive, which is east of Telegraph on Lone Pine Road. Your very private tour may be arranged by calling 642-1300 daily noon to 6 P.M. or Greater Bloomfield Real Estate Co. at 646-6500 anytime.
