Aid for backpackers

advice:

Selection of hiking shoes should be your first concern. Even a one-day hike can be misery without comfortable, good fitting, well broken-in shoes. Take plenty of time in getting your shoes fitted.

out comfortable, good litting, weil broken-in shoes. Take plenty of time in getting your shoes fitted. Wear the type of socks (usually a thin inner pair and a thick outer pair) that you will wear while hiting. Insist on a roomy fit to allow for the swelling that comes from carrying a 30 to 40 pound pack hour after hour.

In choosing a sleeping bag, you'll find there are mummy type bags, barrel type bags, and tull rectangular bags. The mummy type bag is tapered to fit the body, is the lightest to carry, and the easiest to keep warm in. Some pole find the mummy type bag to confining. If you're in doubt, by all Backpacking is gaining rapidly in popularity among outdoor sports. As with any sport, once you discover it you'll begin to wonder what equipment will best suit your needs — and how much it will cost.
